Four Counties Affected;
Reed Claims Authority
Despite Congress Failure
To Act.

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—Ignoring failure of the senate to vote on a resolution continuing its life during the recess of congress, the Reed campaign funds investigating committee went ahead late today by ordering impounding of the ballots in four additional counties in Pennsylvania.

In order to the sergeant-at-arms of the senate to take possession of boxes in Delaware, Lackawanna, Luzerne and Schuylkill counties was by unanimous vote of both republican and democratic members and was entered after formal notice had been filed with the senate that William B. Wilson, the democratic candidate, contested the election of William S. Vare, republican.

Full Authority Claimed.
How much further the committee will carry on its activities during the recess period was left to future determination, but Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, its chairman, holds the view that the committee has full authority to act in the Pennsylvania election contest case under a resolution adopted by the senate last January.

Vare has written the committee indicating an entirely opposite view and calling attention to the fact that the resolution approved after the notice of contest by Wilson had been filed with the senate directed the committee to secure ballot boxes for the election.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, who waged the successful filibuster against the resolution to continue the campaign committee, said after adjournment of congress that the committee "clearly" does not have the power to open the ballot boxes in Pennsylvania.

Reach Senate Payroll.
While the fight over the resolution to continue the committee was in progress in the senate, Vare and Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, whose primary campaign expenditures have been under scrutiny, got on with the formal filing with the senate of a report from the election committee that their credentials were in proper form.

While counsel for Smith advised him that this action gave him a seat, Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, a democrat, on the elections committee, told the senate that the question of seating Smith had not been considered during examination of the credentials.

The senator said he presumed that everyone would concur in the proposition that the seating of both Smith and Vare was a question for the senate, and not the sixty-ninth congress, and none of the senators present voiced disagreement.

No contest against Smith has been filed by any of his opponents and since his case as senator-elect was referred to the elections committee after.

YEGGMEN RIFLE
SAFE ON CORNER
AS CROWDS PASS

Wielding hammers, chisels and other crude instruments, yeggmens entered the Pan-Am filling station at the popular corner of Piedmont avenue and Ellis street shortly after closing hour Friday night, and forced the safe, making away with $40 in money, police reports show.

Call Officers M. D. Cartwright and George Barrett found the office floor of the filling station strewn with coins—about $10 in all—offering mute testimony to the hurried departure of the marauders. The officers requested the proprietor not to touch the safe, believing that Captain M. J. Wright will be able to photograph fingerprints on the surface.

Fresh Green Vegetables

Isn't it just delightful to look into the windows of any of the first-class markets and see green peas, string beans, rhubarb, lettuce, radishes, green onions and other spring vegetables this early in the season?

Of course, there are many who have never seen it any different, but there are lots of us who can recall the time when these vegetables did not come on the market until late in the spring.

The grocery, market and produce advertisements in The Constitution this morning give you a complete list of everything on the market, both fresh and canned. Also the best of meats, fish, poultry and fruits.

Make out your list with The Constitution advertisements before you. It will simplify the task and save you money.

Despite Denial of Recall,
Washington Believes
Days of Senor Tellez
Here Are Numbered.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Washington, March 4.—The mystery surrounding the hasty departure of Senor Tellez, the Mexican ambassador, from Washington yesterday, was not dispelled by developments at either the state department or the Mexican embassy today.

At the Mexican embassy it was officially announced today that Senor Tellez had left for Mexico City to take care of personal family matters that had arisen during the last few days.

Unofficially it was stated, however, that he would return to Washington.

"On February 25 Ambassador Manuel C. Tellez left Washington on a leave of absence because certain family matters required his personal and urgent attention in Mexico City," the Mexican statement said. "On his way information reached him to the effect that his brother's health had improved, which moved him to return to Mexico City to see him."

Acting Secretary of State John C. Grew issued an official announcement at the state department denying that the United States government had demanded recall of the Mexican envoy. This statement followed published reports that the Mexican government had called Senor Tellez home at the request of the American government.

Mr. Grew asserted that the American government was wholly ignorant of the cause of the departure of Senor Tellez. "There was no denial, however, of apparently well-founded reports that complaints have been made to the Mexican government regarding certain propaganda carried on by Senor Tellez in his efforts to interpret to the Mexican people the land laws to the Mexican people."

Days Since Numbered.
Despite persistent denials, the opinion is prevalent here that Senor Tellez will not long continue as Mexican ambassador to this government.

It is known that the department has been concerned about Mexican propaganda regarding the practical working of the Mexican petroleum and land laws to the Mexican people. Arturo Elias, Mexican consul general at New York, as for Ambassador Tellez, there were evidences that he believed his own government was not supporting him, and he was not a man of me. It is established that he has given out misleading statements for mere political propaganda purposes, and if charges are sustained that Consul General Elias at New York has been guilty of distributing pamphlets attacking President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg, it scarcely can be doubted that their services would be terminated for good in this country.

Still Silent On Note.
Secrecy still surrounds contents of the recent note sent by this government to Mexico and the reply made by President Calles.

President Coolidge today declared that nothing new has arisen in the relations between the United States and Mexico. At the white house it was stated that the only question arising between the two governments is that of confiscation of property. This government is still content that application of the Mexican land and oil laws is confiscatory and retroactive. The president feels that if the government of Mexico would agree not to confiscate American property, then all troubles with that country would quickly disappear.

Boy Faints as Verdict

HELD FOR ACTION
BY GRAND JURY

Hulsey Tells of Lovers'
Quarrel; Detectives
Evidence Blow To Boy's Claims.

"I didn't mean to do it; murder was the last thing in my heart."
Protesting in a shaken voice his innocence of a murder charge lodged against him by a coroner's jury at an inquest held Friday afternoon, Guy Wingard, 19-year-old Atlanta youth, collapsed and fell fainting to the floor as the jury's verdict was returned laying the death of Miss Jewell Duncan, pretty sweetheart of Wingard, to "gun-shot wounds in the head" inflicted by him.

In a trembling voice the boy had repeated the story he told police after the killing Wednesday night at Miss Duncan's home at 86-A East Fair street; how he had pulled the trigger that sent an accidental bullet plowing through the young girl's head.

"There was no quarrel between us," he insisted. "I wouldn't have done it for the world."

Revived After Collapse.
Immediately after the jury returned its verdict recommending that Wingard be held to the state courts on a charge of murder, the youth slumped to the floor in a semi-conscious condition. Members of the coroner's jury and employees of the T. C. Bazemore funeral parlors, where the inquest was held, administered first-aid treatment. Then the boy was carried back to police station under guard to await appeal at New Orleans.

The inquest consumed more than two hours, but only a few witnesses were called to the stand.

R. J. Hulsey, Jr., a brother-in-law of Miss Duncan, was the first witness to testify. He stated that Miss Duncan and young Wingard had had some trouble about three weeks before the girl's death, and temporarily had "broken up" their affair.

"It must have been patched up, however," Mr. Hulsey said, "as Wingard had dates with her at the home of Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday, though, Miss Duncan told me she would tell Duncan that night he must not see her any more."

Sam Duncan, 13-year-old brother of Miss Duncan, was the only person to enter the room before the shot was fired, Mr. Hulsey stated.

The Duncan boy did not appear at the hearing, having gone to Dallas, Ga., earlier in the day with members of his family to make funeral arrangements for the dead girl. Mr. Hulsey, however, corroborated the youth's earlier statement to the effect that he had been in the room just before the shooting and had seen Wingard unload the cartridges from his pistol, according to Paul Donehue, Fulton county coroner.

A feature of this case was the testimony of City Detectives L. D. Cody and C. L. Taylor, who have been assigned to the case and who have

RAIL CHIEFS
WILL DISCUSS
VIADUCTS PLAN

Executives To Confer
Here on March 22 on
Suggested Lower Track
Levels.

PLAN WOULD END
BOND LITIGATION

Would Limit Approaches to New Viaducts So as To Eliminate Property Damage.

Coincident with announcement of attorneys involved in litigation to prevent administration of funds authorized in the $8,000,000 bond issue for civic improvements that they will file an appeal to the United States supreme court within the next 10 days, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Friday revealed that presidents of railroads across whose lines the proposed Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts will be erected will meet here March 22.

These officials will confer with city authorities over a proposal to lower tracks of affected lines, and if this is successful, it will obviate the necessity of carrying to the supreme court the Thomas Brady suit to prevent construction of the viaducts as now planned and would practically leave complainants no cause for action.

The conference Friday was hailed as a master stroke, taken in an effort to free the bond issue from all legal entanglements. If the road executives agree to the plan of the mayor and other city officials, tracks will be lowered 4.5 feet as they pass under the bridges, thereby permitting beginning of approaches to the viaducts at Decatur street on the north side and Hunter street on the south side. If such a scheme were evolved and sanctioned, Mr. Brady, whose property is located on Pryor street between Decatur and Edgewood, would have no complaint, and it was predicted that his attorneys would withdraw all proceedings against the entire bond issue.

Majority Assured Present.
Several rail executives already have replied to Mayor Ragsdale's invitation to attend the conference and others are expected to be present. The mayor has enough promises at this time to assure him that a majority of the six roads whose lines would be affected by the lowering proposal will attend.

George Spence, attorney for Thomas Brady, complainant, stated that his client has no desire to delay matters and that he will file his papers with the supreme court as soon as possible in order to expedite adjudication of the issues at stake. Mr. Spence is fighting a losing battle through Fulton superior court, the federal court of the northern district of Georgia and the United States court of appeals at New Orleans.

Mr. Brady's suit attacks mainly the viaducts, but also hits the election, questioning its validity. This has resulted in tying up the whole issue, and the bonds can not be sold, or rather large bond company will not buy the securities as long as they are in the courts.

Tribunals to which Mr. Brady has carried his complaint all have been unanimous in declining to render a

"An economic revolution, necessary and inevitable, is developing in Georgia now," three hundred business executives and officials of civic bodies were told at a mass meeting of the Georgia association by James A. Hol-lomon, associate editor of The Constitution, late Friday afternoon.

"Cotton is going to be supplanted by the cow, the hog and the hen," he declared. "Those three are just a phrase—they visualize the great change over of agriculture from poverty-stricken methods to the methods which will bring prosperity."

The meeting called to plan Atlanta's part in "Cow-Hog-Hen Week" opening Monday throughout the state, heard detailed organization plans from Secretary F. H. Abbott and others, showing that the movement had spread into every county.

Speakers included President H. G. Hastings, Vice President P. R. Bos-melie, Joseph A. McCord, former governor of the federal reserve bank; E. S. Martin, president of the Phoenix Cheese company; Channing Cope, of the utilities information committee of Georgia; Victor Barron, financial editor of The Atlanta Georgian; J. A. Conwell, head of the Georgia Cotton Growers Cooperative association and several who responded to questions.

National Committee on Agriculture Opens Two-
Day Private Session at Biltmore.

BY HERB McCUSKER.

Devoid of political and partisan influence, and actively supported by the country's foremost executives of industry, finance, commerce, agriculture and transportation, the National business men's committee on agriculture opened a two-day private conference with bankers, manufacturers, farmers and railroad officials of the southeast at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel Friday afternoon, at which time testimony as to the agricultural problem in this part of the country was given.

The committee, which was created jointly by the national industrial conference board and the United States Chamber of Commerce, is headed by Charles Nagel, of St. Louis, who was secretary of commerce and labor on the cabinet of President Taft. Members of the committee comprise eleven of the country's most prominent business men, agriculturists, railroad heads and economic authorities.

Seek Constructive Policy.
The only southern member of the committee is A. F. McKissick, head of the Alice Mills of Greenville, S. C., who is in attendance at the meetings here.

While leaders in several branches of industry and commerce in the south were testifying before the committee Thursday, additional invitations to other authorities of this district were being dispatched, according to Magnus W. Alexander, of New York, president of the National Industrial conference board and representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"This committee, which has already held some 25 conferences throughout the country, was formed for the purpose of studying agricultural conditions in all parts of the United States with a view toward working out a broad outline of sound, constructive national policy for agricultural relief," Mr. Alexander declared.

Touching upon the recognized tendency of politicians to be influenced by interests of their constituents rather than by the interests of the country as a whole, and the farmer in particular, Mr. Alexander stated that the commission in session here is "short of all political and partisan complexion."

Members of this committee merely indicates the keen interest which business men of the country are taking toward agricultural problems, which they realize are their own problems as well," he said.

"In Atlanta we intend to obtain a clear insight to the problems of the district, especially that of the cotton grower. The commission next summer expects to make an informative report which will be distributed widely throughout the country and which will result in definite recommendations being made."

The committee will close its conference here this afternoon, it was announced. Many Atlantans as well as other prominent business and agricultural leaders of the south have been invited to present their views today.

Sunday Golf

Jury Decides

Men Arrested for Playing on Links in South Carolina Freed.

Aiken, S. C., March 4.—(AP)—Playing golf on Sunday is not in violation of the South Carolina century-old Sunday blue laws, a jury in Magistrate Babson's court decided here today when it found Ben Thompson, Everett McDonald and Jim Seales and William Whitcomb not guilty.

These men had been arrested for playing golf last Sunday, following Governor John G. Richards' instructions to the sheriffs to enforce the South Carolina statute forbidding sport on Sundays.

F. F. Henderson, of defense counsel, addressed the jury briefly, saying that the blue law was "a forgotten measure passed by our long dead forefathers for the purpose of enforcing a condition that existed in their day."

"Conditions have changed since then," Mr. Henderson said. "If the people down in Columbia want to stop golf they will have to pass a law prohibiting it. The present statute certainly does not cover the matter."

J. F. Williams, state senator, announced that he would introduce a bill to amend the law.

Underwood of Alabama
SENATOR QUILTS WITH END OF CONGRESS
Goes Into Private Life

Mobile, Ala., March 4.—(AP)—After 30 years of service in the house and senate, Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, with the adjournment of congress today enters upon the privileges of private life. As soon as he has entirely recovered from recent attack of pleurisy, he will be prepared to exist in accordance with his fancy. During the years he will travel extensively. He will publish a book containing a story of that phase of American history in which he was a performer on the country's screen. He will divide his home life between Alabama and Virginia. In the former state he has a residence in Birmingham, in the latter a country estate contiguous to the acres of Mount Vernon.

Senator Underwood, while a member of congress, achieved all the honors for which the average congressman strives. He was the author of one of the great bills of history, the tariff act of 1912, one of the few such acts. He was a leader of the democratic majority of the house and admitted a great one. He was a leader of a democratic minority in the senate. Thus he was one of the very few men in history who led his party in both houses. As a senator one of his most notable contributions to legislation was the amendment to the national defense act of 1916, out of which grew the gigantic development at Muscle Shoals.

In 1912, Mr. Underwood was a candidate for the presidential nomination before the Baltimore convention. He had the unvarying support of the Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and Georgia delegations. The latter having been captured in a primary election in which he defeated Woodrow Wilson by 30,000 votes. In 1924 Mr. Underwood was again a presidential candidate.

When John W. Davis was nominated, Mr. Underwood was the second contestant in point of strength. Had the southern states, the delegations of which were weakened because of the Klan issue, come to his assistance he would have been nominated.

In 1922, Senator Underwood declined an offer of President Harding, which, had it been accepted, would have made him a member of the United States supreme court.

R. B. Creager, Batanza's business partner, sent the message. He arrived in Mexico City Sunday and went to the ranch Monday. The agrarians are reported to have killed Batanza on an attack on the ranch.

Batanza's body is expected here Saturday. Lack of information regarding Creager has caused his friends to worry about his safety.

SENATOR O. W. UNDERWOOD.

Washington, March 4.—(By The Associated Press.)—With the unyielding grip of a filibuster in the senate throttling several bills, the 69th congress today by constitutional mandate, although a number of important measures caught in the last-minute jam, failed of action, it was stated at the white house after adjournment that the president had no intention of calling a special session. If he adheres to such a program, the 70th congress will not convene until December.

In the president's view there has been opportunity for congress to consider all legislation for which there was pressing need and the failure to pass appropriation or other legislation was not sufficient to create an emergency.

Will Carry On.
While the president recognizes that there will be inconveniences, due to the failure of the deficiency appropriation bill, he expects a method to be worked out to permit the administration to carry on.

The most serious aspect of the failure of the deficiency bill, the president believes, is with relation to pensions. There is doubt whether money will be available to meet the pension payments due on May 4 and June 4.

Mr. Coolidge does not expect failure of the $25,000,000 fund for government loans on adjusted compensation certificates will work serious hardships. With the first rush of the movement by veterans to obtain loans on their certificates already over, the president believes that a workable understanding will develop by which regular banking channels can make available loans as originally contemplated.

Dawes Lectures Senate.
The fall of the gavel in the senate today was delayed until one minute past noon while Vice President Dawes lectured that body on its defective rules, which had been utilized to clog the legislative machinery for more than two days and nights.

There was a delay of nine minutes in the gateway of the house, the clocks being set back twice in order that Speaker Longworth might conclude an address reviewing the work of the session and calling attention that it had been demonstrated that under house rules a minority never could "thwart any popular mandate."

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—Thirty-eight presidential nominations including two for the newly created radio commission, were still without the stamp of senate approval when congress adjourned.

The radio appointments of O. H. Caldwell, of New York, and H. A. Bellows, of Minnesota, died in the senate interstate commerce committee when, a short while before adjournment, it refused to take action. They will go over "without prejudice" to the next session.

Meanwhile, it is expected that President Coolidge will fill the two vacancies with recess appointments, probably designating Caldwell and Bellows. Three members, forming a majority of the commission, have been confirmed and it can function, but is without funds, due to the senate's failure to pass the deficiency bill, carrying an appropriation for its maintenance.

The remaining unconfirmed nominations included those of Robert H. Bryson as postmaster at Indianapolis, pending since the second day of the session and the subject of a bitter controversy, and Charles W. Bushing as United States marshal for the Determined not to be caught napping in the event of another armed conflict the war minister has approved a bill which would arrange for mobilizing of the entire population, regardless of sex, in case of necessity.

By the plan men under 40 would be thrown into the front lines. Every one else would work for the military leaders. The salient point of the program consists of construction of a line of fortifications on the eastern boundary of Alsace-Lorraine, with strategic railroad depots, harbored wire entanglements and trenches.

DAWES TRIUMPHS IN FILIBUSTER

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Victory in the senate filibuster went to an innocent bystander, Vice President Dawes.

As the minute hand on the senate clock arrived at about 15 seconds of noon, Dawes arose.

"The chair calls the senate's attention," he said, and then went on to repeat his familiar criticism of the senate rules.

"We see here," he said in effect, "a minority preventing a majority from legislating. It is a scene that could take place in no other legislative body in the civilized world."

Again Dawes said: "The chair calls the senate's attention," and with that he reminded them of the most unpalatable words the senate has had to listen to in a generation. Dawes recalled to the senate the speech he made to them at the beginning of the present congress. By explicit reference, he so to speak, repeated his words of two years ago.

That speech, made to the senate by Dawes when he first took his seat as vice president on March 4, 1925, was a severe arraignment of the senate rules, and it created an unprecedented sensation. On that occasion, after Dawes had violated all precedent by telling the senate what it ought to do, the senate spent weeks in repairing the damage to the sacred tradition which says that a vice president shall never speak and in other-wise rebuking Dawes. That was two years ago.

Smitten on the Hip.

On Friday, when Dawes again, in effect, said the same thing, a wave of utter surprise swept over the senate, intent, of course, on its own angry filibuster.

Although Dawes' words occupied but a few seconds, there arose on the faces of the senators signs that the warring factions might forget their violence, and unite in the common cause of rebuking an impious outsider, the audacious vice president.

Harrison, of Mississippi, actually started to speak.

But Dawes had the advantage of the last word. As he came toward the end of what he had to say, he raised the gavel, and as he concluded, he brought the gavel down, and announced:

"The senate has adjourned sine die."

Dawes, though not a combatant, was the beneficiary of such victory as there was. But, in seizing a personal victory for himself, he also, in effect, passed judgment on the merits of the filibuster and gave his verdict against the republicans.

The Game of It All.

The game had been for each side to try to make the other take the odium of responsibility for the failure of important legislation, which the filibuster entailed. The question was how to make the public see the situation. Each side was constructing its own picture for the public to see.

Was the public building bill and the other important legislation prevented from passing because Republican Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, and his 23 other republicans, would not let Democratic Senator Reed, of Missouri, and his committee make a further investigation of Pennsylvania politics?

Or was this legislation prevented from passing because Reed, of Missouri, insisted on making a further investigation?

Dawes made all this useless. In effect he pronounced victory when he said it was a case of a minority preventing a majority from legislating. The minority which thus had to take the blame consisted of Republican Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, as isted by Republican Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, and 22 other republicans. The majority consisted of Democratic Senator Reed, of Missouri, and some 60 others, democrats and progressive republicans.

HOUSE COMMITTEE GOES TO FLORIDA FOR RIVER SURVEY

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—Chairman Dempsey, of the house rivers and harbors committee, left today for Hollywood, Fla., to begin next Monday two weeks inspection of rivers and harbors in that state.

Representative W. E. Hull, of Illinois, a republican on the committee, will depart for Hollywood tomorrow to join Mr. Dempsey. Others who will join the inspection are Walter F. Lineberger, of Los Angeles, who was a republican member of the committee up to his retirement from congress today, and Joseph S. McGann, committee clerk.

sonal victory for himself, he also, in effect, passed judgment on the merits of the filibuster and gave his verdict against the republicans.

STAFF ASKS VOICE ON GRADY RULES

Claiming that any changes made in Grady hospital rules and regulations without sanction from, and origin in, the medical staff of that institution would jeopardize the class A rating of the hospital, members of the medical staff of the white unit of the hospital Friday night passed a resolution petitioning the hospital and charities committee of city council to "refer to the executive committee" of the staff any prospective changes under consideration.

The resolution read as follows: "Inasmuch as it has come to the attention of the staff of the white unit of Grady hospital that request has been made for a revision of certain rules and regulations for the conduct of the hospital, the staff respectfully petitions the hospital and charities committee of the honorable city council to refer to the executive committee of the staff these proposed changes for their consideration and recommendation."

The meeting was called by Dr. W. N. Adkins, president of the staff. Following the meeting he announced that the vote was unanimous and that action was taken because the American College of Surgeons, and the American Medical association, demands that any changes made in the rules of a hospital must originate with the medical staff, if that hospital is to retain its class A rating.

"The staff has filed this petition only because it wants to retain that rating for the sick poor of Atlanta," President Adkins said. "Any changes made without first reference being made to the staff would violate the requirements of the medical associations, and would thus hazard the status of Grady hospital."

The move was taken following a proposal by associate members of the Grady hospital board to have city council effect several changes in the present rules.

MRS. V. V. TAYLOR FUNERAL SUNDAY

Mrs. Victoria V. Taylor, 73, died Friday morning at the residence, 88 Mobile avenue.

She is survived by four daughters, Misses Effie T., Elizabeth and Annie Taylor, and Mrs. K. T. Terrell; four sons, Sam, V. S., Glenn I. Taylor, all of Atlanta, and W. S. Taylor, of Orange, Texas; one sister, Mrs. L. T. Lewis, of Washington, Ga., and one brother, A. S. Lewis, of Franklin, Tenn.

Funeral services will be conducted from the chapel of Ed Bond and Condon company at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Rev. Carter H. Jones will officiate and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

GOING TO HELL, BOY ANNOUNCES, PULLING TRIGGER

Washington, March 4.—(United News.)—A 16-year-old student admitted suicide today in the halls of Herbert Willett walked through the corridors of the schools while classes were in session.

A friend asked, "Where are you going?"

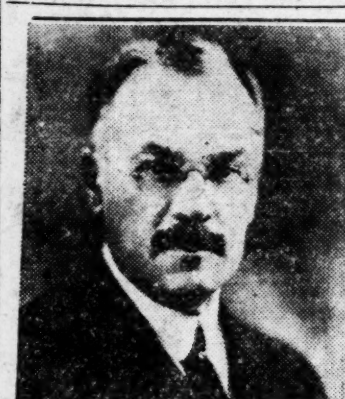

"I'm going to hell," Willett answered as he pulled a gun and shot himself through the head. Death was instantaneous.

His mother, teaching in a nearby room, heard the shot.

No motive for the act could be given.

South To Lead Prosperity Of Nation in 1927, Says Herr

Prosperity in the south this year probably will be greater than in any other section of the country and business

ness throughout the nation should be unusually good.

This statement was made Friday night by E. M. Herr, of Pittsburgh and New York, president of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company.

Mr. Herr is in Atlanta, at the Biltmore hotel, as a member of the National Business Men's committee on agriculture, which ended a two-day conference here Friday afternoon. He will leave today for the home office of his company.

Expressing extremely optimistic views on the business outlook, Mr. Herr declared he has high hopes for the steady growth of the Atlanta branch office of the company which is headquarters for the southern territory. The local offices are in charge of Henry A. Coles.

"The Westinghouse company during the past two years," Mr. Herr said, "has spent between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 on expansion and now we are in a position to cash in on this. I am deeply interested in industrial development in the south and believe we will go steadily ahead. In view of the ideal location of Atlanta and the development work we have done in the past two years, our company should reap a rich harvest in this territory in 1927."

"Although it is too early to say anything definite about it, there are four of five hydroelectric developments tentatively planned in Georgia and the south and I expect Westinghouse to do its part of these. The least we can expect is that business will hold to its present volume and if it does that we shall be satisfied."

"Also I have great hopes of solid and substantial results from the conference the business men's committee is holding throughout the country in concrete benefits to agriculture, with consequent and inevitable greater benefits to industry and business in general. With the southern farmer on his feet and making money there is no reason why the south should not continue to forge rapidly ahead and I look to see this in the immediate future."

AMERICANS ENTER BIG DIAMOND RUSH

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Capetown, South Africa, March 4.—Americans who are on a world tour took part at Grasfontein today in the mad rush of 25,000 people to peg claims in the richest diamond diggings in the world. Others engaged professional runners, paying fees up to $5,000 to peg for them.

$100,000 COTTON DEAL IS CLOSED BY RADIOPHONE

Charleston, S. C., March 4.—(AP)—Use of the long distance radio telephone service between the United States and England was plainly demonstrated in Charleston this morning when in the course of a conversation with one of the largest cotton firms in Liverpool the local firm of John F. Maybank and company sold a quantity of cotton involving in excess of $100,000 and exchanged important news relative to the cotton situation with the party at the end of the line across the Atlantic. So clearly did the voices carry that John F. Maybank, with the Charleston receiver at his ear, at once recognized the voice of the party at the other end some 3,000 miles away. The conversation lasted for about eight minutes and the charges will be around $200, but that amount sinks into insignificance in proportion to the extent of the transaction and the value of the information furnished to the Liverpool firm.

SIXTH BABY DIES OF BORIC ACID HOSPITAL DOSE

Chicago, March 4.—(AP)—The sixth of 10 babies accidentally administered boric acid instead of distilled water at Columbus Memorial hospital died today while the coroner continued to try to fix responsibility.

The bodies of four of the infants which had been interred were exhumed and a necropsy was ordered in the case of the sixth baby today, with an inquest into its death tomorrow.

One other baby is near death, but the condition of the others gave no cause for alarm.

Coroner Oscar Wolff said today that Dr. Zan D. Klopfer, coroner's physician in the Columbus hospital territory, would be discharged for failure to investigate properly and report on the deaths of the first four babies. The first diagnosis was that intestinal influenza had caused the deaths.

The babies were from one to two weeks old.

RAZE TOP WALLS OF BURNED STORE

The entire upper section of the five-story walls of the Mather Furniture Company building at Forsyth and Hunter streets, destroyed by fire Thursday night, will be pulled down. It was decided at a conference Friday afternoon between Chief Cody, the architect who erected the building, and the city building inspector, C. J. Bowen. This announcement was made by Roy Mather, a partner of the firm. Police have permitted no one to enter the building, which is only a shell, with most of the upper supports burned away and the lower floors a mass of charred timbers, shattered glass and remnants of the furniture stock, no piece of which was saved from the flames.

Forsyth and Hunter streets opposite the structure was roped off by police Friday afternoon to protect pedestrians from danger of falling bricks and debris, and against a possible collapse of the walls, which have cracked in places along top section. Temporary offices were opened Friday morning by the Mather company at 26 West Hunter street, immediately across from the ruined building. Company officials stated that plans are now going forward to reestablish a wholesale and retail furniture business in Atlanta. Although the lost store was only one branch of the Mather Bros. company, which also conducts wholesale and retail stores in many cities throughout the southeast as well as a manufacturing plant at Austell, Ga., Mr. Mather pointed out that the loss of the store was a serious blow to the chain, adding that every expedient will be brought into play to supply the needs of customers in this city.

REED COMMITTEE RESUMES PROBE

An investigation, which never was completed, there was no indication that the Reed committee would undertake to go into it, at least before the next congressional session. Chairman Reed said after the meeting late today that the committee had taken no action with reference to any question except the impeachment of the ballots in the four additional counties in the Keystone state.

This statement was in reply to inquiries whether the committee would investigate the last senatorial election in Colorado as was suggested in the senate during the filibuster against the measure continuing the inquiry into the 1924 election.

The question of whether the committee will open any of the thousands of ballot boxes already brought here from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh was left to later determination. The members reached a tentative agreement to meet here again on March 23, and that question may be considered at that time.

Will Push Contempt Case.

Action on the contempt proceedings, recommended by the Reed committee against Samuel Insull, Chicago public utilities operator, and other recalcitrant witnesses in the Illinois and Pennsylvania primary investigations will be sought at the next session of the senate.

Chairman Reed had planned to have the senate refer their cases to the federal attorney for the District of Columbia, but deferred doing so because of the failure to act on the resolution to continue the life of his committee. He takes the position that the status of the contempt cases would not be changed by reason of the expiration of the sixty-ninth congress.

HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH, YOUTH COLLAPSES

Wingard at length regarding the case. The officers testified that Wingard at first stated that he did not know that a pistol which he took from his home and which he had in his pocket at Miss Duncan's home, was loaded.

He later changed his story the officers testified, and said that he took the pistol from his pocket and had it in his lap. Miss Duncan had gone up to start the phonograph, Wingard further stated, and as she did so he got up to place the pistol on the mantel. As he did, the youth claimed, the weapon was accidentally discharged, the shot entering Miss Duncan's head.

Wingard later stated, the officers also testified, that just previous to the fatal shot he had unloaded the gun and had pulled the trigger twice, with the pistol pointing to the floor. Neither time it exploded, he claimed, proving his statement that it was "unloaded." But when he got up to put the pistol on the mantel he pointed it at Miss Duncan and again pulled the trigger, whereupon the fatal shot was fired, the officers testified Wingard had told them.

Conflicts Are Claimed.

The officers stated that statements made by Wingard have been conflicting from the beginning, and it was largely through their statements that he was held to the grand jury.

Funeral services for Miss Duncan will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock from the New Hope Baptist church, near Dallas, Ga. The pastor of the church will officiate and interment will be in the cemetery. The funeral party will leave the undertaking parlors of T. C. Baze and his family.

First Plan Impractical.

These street level hikes would cause damage to millions of dollars worth of centrally located business property, and would be impractical, according to prominent engineers. They, therefore, propose to lower tracks of railroads 4.5 feet if they pass under the bridges and to work about 2.500 feet on either side of the viaducts proper.

Mayor Ragsdale has asked railroad officials to the conference, and if the conference is successful in its negotiations, work can be begun almost immediately since drawings already have been completed for this purpose in the issue was $1,000,000.

Although the school department has not authorized G. Lloyd Preacher, school architect, to draw any plans, it is ready to begin work on mapping plans for $3,000,000 worth of new buildings. The school department has prepared tentative plans for the eradication of schools and these will be available for Mr. Preacher.

Another $500,000 will go to the school department for additional equipment. All options necessary to construct the new $1,000,000 city hall adjacent to the Fulton county courthouse, with one exception, have been secured, and final drawings can be made on short notice. A. Ten Eyck Brown already has drafted preliminary sketches.

Triangulation survey of Atlanta and its environs preparatory to expenditure of $1,000,000 on Atlanta's sewer system already is under way by engineers of the United States geodetic survey. A general plan for many improvements in this branch has been perfected by Chief of Construction William A. Hassell and Clarke Donaldson, assistant chief in charge of sewerage.

The last $500,000 will be expended in water works improvements, which, under plans of the department, contemplates a marked increase in water pressure. Several new connecting mains also will be laid.

Practically all of the $3,000,000 will be available this year and work on all the projects contemplated could be begun as soon as the securities were marketed.

Today at 2:30 Dr. Robertson will give the second of his lectures on the Epistle to the Hebrews, continuing the series he began Friday afternoon.

Dr. Hardman to Speak.

more, 245 Washington street, at 8 o'clock, Sunday morning.

Miss Duncan is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Duncan; six sisters, Mrs. J. F. Wigley, Mrs. R. C. Carter, Mrs. R. J. Huber, Mrs. Morris Leach, Mrs. D. H. RAIL PRESIDENTS TO DISCUSS PLAN single opinion in his favor, but he has announced that he will press his case before the country's highest court if he can get it there.

"It will have been a year March 24 since citizens of Atlanta went to the polls and voted overwhelmingly for the $3,000,000 bond issue, and yet, not a single bit of work has been accomplished," Mr. Ragsdale said. "The people are entitled to have this money spent. It will mean a thing for Atlanta, and I feel that we should take every step necessary to adjudicate finally and definitely the bonds."

"Our attorneys have fought a winning battle through all the courts with the single exception of the United States supreme court, and at this time we have been informed that the case will be appealed to that court."

"We feel that the complainants have no case of real merit and we will take every step necessary to protect the interests of citizens of Atlanta. Just at this time there seem to be many persons out of work. If this bond money were available it would provide employment for all those who now are unemployed, and it would open up new jobs, open up an era of construction and expansion here and give the city the additional push it needs to enter a great era of prosperity."

Should Be Ready.

Mayor Ragsdale takes the position that all preliminaries incident to the viaduct program should be gotten in hand at once, regardless of the outcome of the conference with the railroad chiefs, the mayor stating that if this is done, between four and five months' time will be saved when either a "winning" settlement of the suit or its final adjudication in the courts makes actual work on the twin bridges possible.

"If funds are tied up in litigation, the Atlanta bond commission, headed by Frank Neely, and others interested in administration of the bond issue, have begun making plans for making the improvements just as soon as court action is settled."

These agencies are anticipating a complete victory in favor of the city and are preparing to start work on various projects contemplated in the issue as soon as the money is available.

Drawings already have been made for the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts and it is these that the conference has been called to discuss. These plans contemplate raising of the street level on Decatur at Pryor six feet and gradually raising it to 14 feet at Central avenue. Streets between Hunter street on the south side of the approaches to the bridges also would be raised if the present plans are put through.

Various Winners Named.

Of the winning division the prize winners were as follows: Colonel D. A. Dyer, commander of the leading battalion in the red division—with 150 membership; Dr. E. Herndon, captain of the leading battalion in the blue division—with 83 new members, also as leading individual of the drive with 47 membership; Dr. C. J. Robertson, first individual scorer in his division, with 31 members.

Members in the blue division were Sam R. Goodman, major of the highest battalion; Miss Ada Harper, captain of the leading company, and Jim Morrison, first individual scorer. Featuring the entertainment program arranged for the luncheon was an exhibition of the "Black Bottom" by Miss Frances Porter, popular young dancer.

Herbert Kennedy, president of the junior chamber of commerce and a legionnaire, announced that Bobby Jones, Jess Sweetser, Walter Hagen and Bobby Cruikshank will be matched in the open golf tournament sponsored by the legion at East Lake Country club March 23-25.

Capacity crowds of over 3,000 people filled the Tabernacle at the meetings.

other defense attorney, said that the law was passed "about the time they were burning women in Salem for witchcraft and is about as applicable to present conditions as the witchcraft law would be in Salem today."

"There is an old statute in this state which allows a man to whip his wife. I would like to see some member of this jury do that, even though it is law in South Carolina."

The governor's orders to enforce the blue laws caused arrest last Sunday of four men in Greenville for playing golf. Their case has not been tried.

Sheriff Robinson said after the trial that the verdict did not change his interpretation of the law, under which he believes all persons who play golf engaged in other sports on Sunday are subject to arrest, and added:

"I intend to continue enforcing the law in the future as I have in the past in Aiken county."

GOVERNOR HOLDS TO HIS POLICY.

Columbia, S. C., March 4.—(AP)—A quail of these golfers charged with violating the state's ancient Sunday blue laws will make no change in Governor Richards' policy of enforcing the law, he said today.

When informed of the outcome of the trial before an Aiken magistrate, "Only a decision by the supreme court, he said, would change his mind. He would not be swayed by the opinion of any one else."

"So long as they play on Sunday, they will be arrested," the governor said when asked what his attitude would be in other arrests should result in acquittals.

ECONOMIST REVOLT CALLED NECESSARY

Former Senator Hoke Smith was among those present.

Mr. Holloman told the gathering that bankers of Georgia were charging that the state was a "bankrupt borrower." "Plant cotton or you won't get any money" to the modern instruction, "You can't get money unless you have a cow," he said.

He spoke for more than 30 minutes, tracing the efforts of the Georgia association during the last eight years, in which time more than $75,000,000 had been added through its efforts to the annual income of the state.

"We must sell to ourselves," he declared. "Right here is the market for our products. We have been raising cotton and spending the money on food raised in states where the soil was less suited to the foodstuffs than our own. The farmhouse with its flock of turkeys and its garden, its smokehouse and all the rest, is selling to itself when it supplies its own food where formerly the food was bought for at the supply store."

Among those introduced to the meeting were B. S. Barker, secretary of the chamber of commerce; St. Elmo Massengale, Ex-Senator Smith, George Conkin of the Augusta-Richmond Railway and Electric Corporation; Mrs. R. K. Rambo, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's clubs; E. S. Center, Jr., agricultural agent

FRANK KEMPTON LOSES TO H. T. UPSHAW

Major Asa Warren Candler, commander of the Atlanta post of the American Legion, is watching H. T. Upshaw, colonel of the red division in the legion's membership campaign, cut the shirt-tail of Frank Kempton, colonel of the blues. The blue division lost in the race for new members, and Colonel Kempton paid the penalty in the manner pictured here, at the "victory luncheon" of the Atlanta post Friday at the Henry Grady hotel.

Carried over the top with a total of 1,031 members, the membership drive of Atlanta Post No. 1 of American Legion, raised its rolls to a higher figure than ever attained so early in any other year, it was disclosed at a luncheon of workers Friday noon at the Henry Grady hotel.

The drive has gone over and far beyond its expectations, C. F. Palmer, chairman of the membership committee, declared. Despite inclement weather that divided attention of legion workers with assisting institute veterans the drive was considered a huge success.

Members were urged by Charles D. Montgomery, honorary commander of the campaign, to carry the spirit of cheerfulness and optimism throughout the year and to continue to swell its ranks until the Atlanta post legion that of any city in the United States.

Workers Are Praised.

Mr. Palmer, in summing up the laudable work of those aiding in the drive, expressed appreciation to the assistance and publicity given the legion by Atlanta newspapers, declaring that the favorable and liberal reports of the purposes of the legion had paved the way for its workers.

Prizes were awarded workers by Commander Candler, the 40 and 8 club, Chairman Palmer, and division and battalion officers in the drive.

Double honors went to Dr. O. E. Herndon for the greatest number of members gained in both the division and high scorer and as captain of the drive.

to Atlanta for the conference and will introduce the speakers. Dr. Laws will speak at 11 a. m., Dr. Robertson at 2:30, Dr. Wertheimer at 3:30 and Dr. Massee will preach the evening sermon at 7:30.

Dr. Massee, speaking on the commission which Jesus gave the disciples to go forth into all the world, at the Friday night service, stressed the promise Christ made to his disciples, stating that the "Holy Spirit" meant power. He declared that Christians of today, in preaching the gospel of Christ, should remember seven vital factors of the Holy Spirit. These he listed as the supernatural virgin birth of Jesus, Christ's sinlessness, his resurrection, his ascension into heaven, his promised coming again, and the fact that He lives today in the hearts and experiences of men.

Pilate's Question.

Dr. Laws spoke on Friday night, taking his text from the incident when Pilate asked the Jews what they should do with Jesus, and they answered "Crucify Him." Dr. Laws made his question of Pilate's vital question to every individual today, stating that the decision "What shall I do with Jesus?" must be made by every man and woman and that there can be no begging the question nor neutrality on the issue.

In the afternoon Dr. Wertheimer opened the conference speaking on the first group of Psalms, stating that the word "blessed" in these Psalms meant "happy," and that God told, in them, the secret of prosperity and rest, in meditation on word of God.

Dr. Robertson also spoke Friday afternoon, discussing the first three verses of the Epistle to the Hebrews, stating that the Hebrews, who were better than the prophets, He will show in later talks that Jesus is better than the angels, better than Moses, etc.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale introduced the speakers at Friday night's meeting.

an investigation, which never was completed, there was no indication that the Reed committee would undertake to go into it, at least before the next congressional session.

Chairman Reed said after the meeting late today that the committee had taken no action with reference to any question except the impeachment of the ballots in the four additional counties in the Keystone state.

This statement was in reply to inquiries whether the committee would investigate the last senatorial election in Colorado as was suggested in the senate during the filibuster against the measure continuing the inquiry into the 1924 election.

The question of whether the committee will open any of the thousands of ballot boxes already brought here from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh was left to later determination. The members reached a tentative agreement to meet here again on March 23, and that question may be considered at that time.

Will Push Contempt Case.

Action on the contempt proceedings, recommended by the Reed committee against Samuel Insull, Chicago public utilities operator, and other recalcitrant witnesses in the Illinois and Pennsylvania primary investigations will be sought at the next session of the senate.

Chairman Reed had planned to have the senate refer their cases to the federal attorney for the District of Columbia, but deferred doing so because of the failure to act on the resolution to continue the life of his committee. He takes the position that the status of the contempt cases would not be changed by reason of the expiration of the sixty-ninth congress.

Wingard at length regarding the case. The officers testified that Wingard at first stated that he did not know that a pistol which he took from his home and which he had in his pocket at Miss Duncan's home, was loaded.

He later changed his story the officers testified, and said that he took the pistol from his pocket and had it in his lap. Miss Duncan had gone up to start the phonograph, Wingard further stated, and as she did so he got up to place the pistol on the mantel. As he did, the youth claimed, the weapon was accidentally discharged, the shot entering Miss Duncan's head.

Wingard later stated, the officers also testified, that just previous to the fatal shot he had unloaded the gun and had pulled the trigger twice, with the pistol pointing to the floor. Neither time it exploded, he claimed, proving his statement that it was "unloaded." But when he got up to put the pistol on the mantel he pointed it at Miss Duncan and again pulled the trigger, whereupon the fatal shot was fired, the officers testified Wingard had told them.

Conflicts Are Claimed.

The officers stated that statements made by Wingard have been conflicting from the beginning, and it was largely through their statements that he was held to the grand jury.

Funeral services for Miss Duncan will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock from the New Hope Baptist church, near Dallas, Ga. The pastor of the church will officiate and interment will be in the cemetery. The funeral party will leave the undertaking parlors of T. C. Baze and his family.

RAZE TOP WALLS OF BURNED STORE

The entire upper section of the five-story walls of the Mather Furniture Company building at Forsyth and Hunter streets, destroyed by fire Thursday night, will be pulled down. It was decided at a conference Friday afternoon between Chief Cody, the architect who erected the building, and the city building inspector, C. J. Bowen. This announcement was made by Roy Mather, a partner of the firm. Police have permitted no one to enter the building, which is only a shell, with most of the upper supports burned away and the lower floors a mass of charred timbers, shattered glass and remnants of the furniture stock, no piece of which was saved from the flames.

Forsyth and Hunter streets opposite the structure was roped off by police Friday afternoon to protect pedestrians from danger of falling bricks and debris, and against a possible collapse of the walls, which have cracked in places along top section. Temporary offices were opened Friday morning by the Mather company at 26 West Hunter street, immediately across from the ruined building. Company officials stated that plans are now going forward to reestablish a wholesale and retail furniture business in Atlanta. Although the lost store was only one branch of the Mather Bros. company, which also conducts wholesale and retail stores in many cities throughout the southeast as well as a manufacturing plant at Austell, Ga., Mr. Mather pointed out that the loss of the store was a serious blow to the chain, adding that every expedient will be brought into play to supply the needs of customers in this city.

First Plan Impractical.

These street level hikes would cause damage to millions of dollars worth of centrally located business property, and would be impractical, according to prominent engineers. They, therefore, propose to lower tracks of railroads 4.5 feet if they pass under the bridges and to work about 2.500 feet on either side of the viaducts proper.

Mayor Ragsdale has asked railroad officials to the conference, and if the conference is successful in its negotiations, work can be begun almost immediately since drawings already have been completed for this purpose in the issue was $1,000,000.

Although the school department has not authorized G. Lloyd Preacher, school architect, to draw any plans, it is ready to begin work on mapping plans for $3,000,000 worth of new buildings. The school department has prepared tentative plans for the eradication of schools and these will be available for Mr. Preacher.

Another $500,000 will go to the school department for additional equipment. All options necessary to construct the new $1,000,000 city hall adjacent to the Fulton county courthouse, with one exception, have been secured, and final drawings can be made on short notice. A. Ten Eyck Brown already has drafted preliminary sketches.

Triangulation survey of Atlanta and its environs preparatory to expenditure of $1,000,000 on Atlanta's sewer system already is under way by engineers of the United States geodetic survey. A general plan for many improvements in this branch has been perfected by Chief of Construction William A. Hassell and Clarke Donaldson, assistant chief in charge of sewerage.

The last $500,000 will be expended in water works improvements, which, under plans of the department, contemplates a marked increase in water pressure. Several new connecting mains also will be laid.

Practically all of the $3,000,000 will be available this year and work on all the projects contemplated could be begun as soon as the securities were marketed.

Fulton Grand Jury Urges Revision of Criminal Laws

A general revision of criminal laws and procedure of courts in the state; passage of a law similar to the Baumes law, enacted in the state of New York in 1926; discontinuance of the suspended sentence practice of courts of the county, and abolishment of the indeterminate sentence law, were high points of recommendations of the Fulton county grand jury returned Friday.

Jurors were discharged by Judge E. D. Thomas, who commended them for their work during the term. The Baumes law provides that a prisoner convicted of felony for the fourth time must be sent to prison for life and can never come before a parole board. An ex-convict charged with illegal possession of a pistol, with having burglar tools, with aiding a prisoner escape, with having drugs illegally, cannot be admitted for bail, is another feature of the law.

The law further provides for joint trial of persons, thus saving money and time of courts, presentments set out. Robbers found armed may be given additional sentences of from five to ten years, under this law. The jury pointed out that crimes of violence are said to have decreased 40 per cent in the state of New York since the law was enacted.

The following recommendation was made regarding fixing of salaries by the Fulton county commission: "We recommend that all salaries paid out of the treasury of Fulton county be passed upon by the grand jury then in session with the county commissioners."

Minor Changes Urged.
An entry in all cases coming into superior court from the police court of the city showing whether or not the defendant upon arraignment in that court pleaded guilty was recommended. This entry should be made by the city recorder, it was set out.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin and his associates were commended for the "manner in which they are combating crime."

Presentments were signed by Louis D. Newton and W. C. Stradley and P. D. McCarley.

FUNDS FOR PEN LOST IN SHUFFLE

Washington, March 4.—(Special.) Appropriations of $272,300 for installation of new boilers and machinery and for construction, alterations and repairs of the power plant at the Atlanta federal penitentiary were contained in the second deficiency appropriation bill which failed because of the filibuster at the closing of the senate.

The department of justice is now making an inquiry to see what, if anything, can be done to meet this dilemma. It may be necessary to hold up this work until congress returns next December and passes the measure which contained many appropriations necessary to carry on similar governmental functions.

This appropriation of $272,300 was for both the fiscal years of 1927 and 1928. The bill also carried an additional appropriation of $10,000 for maintenance, and authorized expenditure of the unexpended balance of $200,000 voted for the fiscal year 1927 for purchase and installation of new boilers, as well as authority to use $20,000 of the working fund for construction of an addition to the textile mill. The unexpended balance of $20,000 available for drainage also was authorized for use in the measure which was lost in the shuffle.

WARDEN SNOOK DEPLORES LOSS OF APPROPRIATIONS.

When appraised of the fact that the second deficiency bill for appropriations for $272,300 for new boilers, general repairs, alterations and improvements for the Atlanta federal penitentiary had been lost in the shuffle because of the filibuster at the closing of congress and might have to wait until the next session, Warden John W. Snook expressed extreme regret. "We will just have to make the best of a bad situation," he said, "but it will cripple us considerably. It is particularly unfortunate in regard to the water situation since it compels us to pay the exorbitant water rate of the city of Atlanta instead of providing our own supply."

It is to be regretted further, I think, in view of the fact that the money for this appropriation consists largely of an unexpended balance of $200,000 already set aside for the pen and which we could use to great advantage."

MRS. J. H. RESPASS DIES AT CARTERSVILLE

SCRATCHED ITCHING SKIN UNTIL IT BLEED

Relieved at once by a simple treatment

Evans City, Pa., April 2.—"Some time ago I had a bad case of eczema and vine poisoning. At times I scratched my skin until the blood ran. Then our family doctor advised me to use Resinol Soap and Ointment. I obtained relief at once and before long new, smooth skin had taken the place of the old sores. If Resinol should cost me twice as much I would never be without it as I do not think there is a soap or ointment on the market their equal, and it seems to me I have tried almost all of them. Resinol Soap is most refreshing and pleasant to use and Resinol Ointment has a quick healing power. I have recommended these products to many people and expect to continue to do so." (Signed) E. J. LOCAL T. P. A. POST OPENS MEMBER DRIVE

Post "B" of the Travelers' Protective association launched a drive for 500 new members Friday at a luncheon meeting of more than a score of enthusiastic workers at the Henry Grady hotel. J. C. Harrison, major of the campaign, had charge of arrangements and presided as toastmaster.

W. A. Lynn will head the blue team and B. B. Baber, former president of the post, will direct the campaign of the whites. The losing team will furnish the winners entertainment in the form of a theater party when final results of the crusade are tabulated following closing of the contest April 30.

Members of the blue team, in addition to Captain Lynn, are Robert P. Pennington, president of the post; W. P. Price, John Andrews, W. W. Moore, J. C. Harrison, director of the drive; F. E. Kibler, Sam Freeman and H. F. Harrison.

The white squad is composed of Captain Baber, E. D. McDonald, J. H. Owen, W. G. McNair, Jack White, F. B. Florence, Bonnie Elrod, C. D. Harvill and Roy Polton.

The local "B" post already has 1,900 members, and the campaign is to increase the membership to 2,500 by May 12, when the Georgia state convention convenes at Albany.

A meeting and reports of progress of the two opposing forces in the drive will be held each Friday.

WOMAN LAWYER OF ATLANTA GOES TO NEW YORK FIRM

Miss Virginia Gress Smith, a recent graduate of the Atlanta Law school, will leave the city within the next few days for New York, where she will become associated with the New York Title Guaranty company, it was learned Friday.

Miss Smith is said to have established a record in the Fort Valley schools for making 100 in every study throughout the entire course there and won scholarships annually while attending a girls college in Washington, D. C. She is said to have made an unusual record as a student of the Atlanta Law school.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith, of 22 Prado, and a granddaughter of General C. D. Anderson, of the Confederate army, and a niece of T. R. Gress, assistant attorney general.

MRS. V. V. TAYLOR DIES AT RESIDENCE ON MOBILE AVENUE

Mrs. Victoria Virginia Taylor, widow of the late Wesley Taylor, died early Friday morning at her home, 88 Mobile avenue, after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Taylor was 73 years old. She had been a resident of Atlanta for more than 20 years, coming here from Lithonia, Ga.

Funeral services will be held from the chapel of Bond and Condon, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Greenwood cemetery. Surviving Mrs. Taylor are four daughters, Misses Elizabeth, Effie, Annie Taylor and Mrs. K. T. Terrell; four sons, S. T. V. S., and Glenn L. Taylor, all of Atlanta; and William S. Taylor, of Texas; one brother, A. S. Lewis, of Franklin, Tenn., and 11 grandchildren, all of Atlanta.

Mrs. Grant Wilkins Will Be Buried Today In Oakland Cemetery

Former Governor John M. Slaton and Luther Still, Fulton county legislator, clashed at a meeting of the streets committee of city council Friday afternoon over a petition of the Texas Oil company to lower curbs to permit ingress and egress at their new filling station, located at Gordon and Lawton streets. The committee upheld Mr. Slaton, who represented the company in the transaction.

Mr. Still contended that location of the filling station at that point would be dangerous to children and that it would detract from the beauty of the Uncle Remus home nearby. He declared that the plans of the oil company had been "shrouded in secrecy" and that it was "shameful" to thrust down the throats of an unwilling group of citizens.

Mr. Slaton held that his clients had been issued a permit to construct the station at that point, and that acting in good faith, the building had been erected, but that a group of citizens now were attempting to prevent the company from realizing anything on its investment. The company asked that it be permitted to lower curbs for a distance of 20 feet on Gordon and Lawton streets, on which the new station is located.

Mr. Still intimated that he will seek the aid of the seventh ward delegation in his fight in council Monday when the street committee's recommendation will be acted upon finally. Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, member of the committee from the seventh, and Councilman Harry York, of the sixth, were the only two members to vote against the proposal, and asked that a minority report be filed with council.

Under-bidding all competitors by from 1 to 40 cents a square yard, Cecil A. Pittman, construction engineer, Friday was awarded all street paving contracts by action of the committee. There were 41,913 square yards let. Mr. Pittman was given them all for a total of $81,682.52. These recommendations also will go to council for approval Monday.

Stretches approved for paving in vibrolithic concrete and let tentatively to Mr. Pittman were Lucy street from Jackson to Decatur, 1,406 yards; Corley avenue from Highland to Houston, 1,278 yards; Ethel street from Hemphill to Center, 2,501 yards; Murphy avenue from Glenn to Sylvan road, 13,767 yards; Courtland street from Edgewood to Forrest avenue, 19,278 yards; Indiana avenue from Mathews to Connecticut, 1,480 yards; Box street from Butler to Bell, 722 yards, and Parsons street from Peoples to Graftline, 1,475 yards.

Sylvania Citizen Kills Man Found In Wife's Room

Sylvania, Ga., March 4.—(P)—Robert Lovett, well known merchant and self-confessed slayer of Paul Patrick, young farmer, who was killed last night in the Lovett home, remained in jail today. No charges had been preferred against him.

Lovett is said to have returned home last night and finding Patrick in his wife's room shot him twice. He afterwards surrendered to the sheriff. Officials said today that it was doubtful that Lovett would be prosecuted.

Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, of New York, director of the Phelps-Stokes fund, will pass through Atlanta Sunday en route to Tuskegee institute. Dr. Jones will also visit other places in the south in the interest of bringing attention to the importance of negro education. While in Atlanta Sunday, Dr. Jones will be at the Piedmont hotel. Clark H. Foreman, of Atlanta, is assistant to Director Jones, with offices at 101 Park avenue, New York. The Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes is president of the fund.

DR. HENRY JUDSON, NOTED EDUCATOR, DIES IN CHICAGO

Chicago, March 4.—(United News.) Dr. Henry Pratt Judson, 76, president emeritus of the University of Chicago and one of the outstanding educators of the country, died late Friday after a short illness.

Dr. Judson was taken ill three days ago but little anxiety was felt for his condition until he suffered a relapse. He died before a doctor could be called.

Dr. Judson was born in Jamestown, N. Y. He was graduated from Williams college and studied in several other universities before going to the University of Minnesota as a professor of history where he had risen to dean of colleges, when he was made president of the University of Chicago in 1907. He served as president until 1923 when he resigned and was made president emeritus.

TAX EXEMPTION VOTED IN WALTON COUNTY

Monroe, Ga., March 4.—(Special.) Walton county and the city of Monroe voted to exempt new industries from taxation for a period of five years at special elections held today. The vote was light but very one-sided in Monroe and Social Circle, the two largest precincts. Every vote cast was in favor of the exemption.

CARTERSVILLE TAKES RELIGIOUS CENSUS

Cartersville, Ga., March 4.—(Special.)—A religious census of Cartersville just completed by a committee under the chairmanship of Rev. W. H. Clark, pastor of the Sam Jones Memorial church, shows that there are 3,121 white persons residing within the corporate limits of the town.

Of this number, 1,753 are church members and 1,348 are enrolled in the Sunday schools of the town. The Baptist faith predominates in the town with 854 communicants, the Methodists coming next with 665. Presbyterians with 171 are third, and the Episcopalians fourth with 40 members. The membership includes eight Jewish, five Catholic, Church of God, two Universalist, two Christians, one Lutheran and one member of the Christian Science church.

MAYOR TO ADDRESS SALESMEN TONIGHT

A talk by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, will feature the 30th annual banquet of the City Salesmen's association tonight, at 6:30 o'clock, at the Henry Grady hotel, according to B. H. Messer, publicity director.

The Atlanta association is the oldest salesmen's organization in the United States, it was stated.

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE FOR PHILIP OR ANY OTHER SOVEREIGN TO COOPERATE WITH THE ARROGANT RICHARD. SO PHILIP DECIDED TO STORM ACRE WITH HIS OWN TROOPS. RICHARD GAVE HIM NO HELP. THE ASSAULT FAILED. SECRETLY RICHARD REJOICED, BECAUSE IT GAVE HIM THE OPPORTUNITY NOW TO ATTACK ACRE HIMSELF AND GAIN ALL THE GLORY. RICHARD'S WAR-LIKE FEATS AND MILITARY PROWESS HAD GAINED HIM THE RESPECT OF ALMOST THE ENTIRE CAMP. MOST OF THE CRUSADERS THOUGHT HE WOULD SUCCEED. HE ORGANIZED THE ATTACK WITH GREAT CARE, ARRANGING HIS ENGINES OF WAR, HIS BATTERING RAMS AND CATAPULTS TO THE BEST ADVANTAGE TO MAKE A BREACH IN THE WALLS. WHEN EVERYTHING WAS READY THE ATTACK BEGAN. BUT RICHARD HAD RECKONED WITHOUT HIS HOST. THE SARACENS WERE VALIANT FIGHTERS. THE STURDY WALLS OF ACRE RESISTED HIS WAR ENGINES, AND MANY OF THEM WERE DESTROYED BY FLAMING ARROWS AND JAVELINS. THE SCALING LADDERS WHICH HIS TROOPS SET UP WERE HURLED BACK BY THE DEFENDERS. THOUSANDS OF RICHARD'S SOLDIERS DIED IN THE BATTLE AND FINALLY ALL HOPE OF SUCCESS DISAPPEARED. RICHARD, CHAGRINED, ORDERED THEM TO RETREAT.

King Richard I.

By DR. ELLIOTT SHORING, NOTED HISTORIAN

DESPITE THE FACT THAT RICHARD HAD BEEN BEATEN BACK WITH TERRIBLE LOSSES, THE SIEGE WAS MAINTAINED AND THE SARACENS WERE BEING SLOWLY WEAKENED BY FAMINE. RICHARD WAS KEPT INFORMED OF THE PLANS OF THE SARACENS BY AN ALLY WITHIN THE CITY, WHO WOULD NIGHTLY TIE A MESSAGE TO AN ARROW OR LIVELINE AND RUN IT OVER THE WALLS. IT WOULD ALIGHT IN THE CRUSADER'S CAMP, GIVING DEFINITE INFORMATION OF THE PLANS OF THE SARACENS, THEIR NUMBERS AND CONDITIONS. THIS PROVED A GREAT AID TO RICHARD IN HIS PLANS.

THE SARACENS HAD MAINTAINED THEIR LONG DEFENCE OF ACRE HOPING THAT THE SALADIN AND HIS FORCES IN THE MOUNTAINS WOULD BE ABLE TO OVERWHELM THE CRUSADERS IN THE PLAIN AND ALSO THAT HELP MIGHT COME TO THEM FROM THE SEA. WHEN IT BECAME APPARENT THAT ALL HOPE OF SUCCESS HAD FAILED, THE SARACENS SENT OUT A FLAG OF TRUCE WITH A PROPOSAL FOR SURRENDER.

MORRIS OPENS FIGHT FOR REINSTATEMENT

Asserting that he was illegally ousted as a member of the board of education from the first ward and pointing out that he was a legal resident of the first ward, Dr. E. Fred Morris Friday filed mandamus proceedings in Fulton superior court for reinstatement. Judge Virgil E. Moore issued a mandamus nisi ordering board members to show cause before him on March 19 why he should not be a member of the body.

Dr. Morris was ousted Monday, February 2, by city council which declared the post vacant by a vote of 23 to 6 and a two-second vote before by a special examining committee which pointed out that he was residing in Forest Park and did not maintain a residence in the first ward.

The petition sets out that Dr. Morris was a legal resident of the first ward and was elected to his office by a vote of the people. The residence in Forest Park where he is alleged to live is purely temporary as he purchased the same because of his wife's health and has been unable to return to the first ward at the present time, he says. He pays taxes from the first ward, he declared.

GRID CHANGES TO BE MADE KNOW TODAY

New York, March 4.—(AP)—Facing a prolonged debate over the shift and huddle, with an apparently wide divergence of opinion on whether either should be curbed or eliminated, members of the national football rules committee started a two-day session today.

Suggestions to apply forward pass rules to the lateral pass, and change the scoring system were slated for discussion along with the verbal tussle over requests that the shifts be purged of its illegal tendencies by enforcement of a two-second rule before the ball is snapped. Majority opinion apparently was opposed to any radical step which would hamper the game's attacking tendencies.

Before locking the doors on the discussion, the committee elected E. K. Hall, of Dartmouth, chairman, and W. H. H. of Trinity, secretary. Findings of the rules makers, Mr. Hall said, will be announced tomorrow.

Valentine Company at Best In "Chimes of Normandy"

Plaque's sparkling and volatile comic opera gem, "The Chimes of Normandy," was sung with high credit by the May Valentine Comic Opera company at the Erlanger theater Friday night and the presentation delivered a much larger audience than the one which enjoyed this classic light opera as offered by the Valentine organization.

There is more lilting and colorful music, more pure melody and more sprightly ensembles in "The Chimes of Normandy" than can be found in any two other lighter classics, and the opportunity to hear the charming and enchanting score comes so seldom that people should certainly grasp the chance to hear it sung at the two performances to be given Saturday by Miss Valentine's company.

Those who hear "The Chimes of Normandy" Saturday as offered under Miss Valentine's direction will hear an opera sung in English by a company which makes no pretensions to grand opera singing ability but a company which gives a fine rendition nevertheless. "The Chimes" played to a far greater degree than "The Bohemian Girl," the offering for the first part of the week, and those appreciative of the rare charm and grace of real comic opera enjoyed the show thoroughly Friday night and will enjoy the show Saturday afternoon and night.

In Fine Form.
Both principals and chorus were in excellent singing form Friday and gave the good old "Chimes" melodies, ensembles and choruses a zest and finish which they could hardly give to the pretty but unimpassioned tunes found in "The Bohemian Girl." Certainly "The Chimes of Normandy" is the best in the repertoire of the Valentine company and music lovers recognized its merit Friday night by well-deserved applause.

A series of popular song hits, and Lohse and Sterling, in a daring aerial novelty, "The Loew feature picture is "The Music Master."

Toasts portraying the birth and progress of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity were given at the Georgian Terrace Friday night when 50 members of that organization sat at a banquet board in celebration of the 50th anniversary of Founders' day.

The Founder's day address was delivered by E. R. Denmark. Toasts were given by E. R. Denmark, Tech chapter, Phi Kappa Alpha chapter, W. F. Cox, Pi Kappa Alpha chapter, and C. D. Keen, alumni.

Following several solos by members, the banqueters, jointly sang "The Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha." The address was given by E. R. Denmark, invocation was given by Rev. J. W. Caldwell.

Augusta SALESMAN INJURED IN ACCIDENT
Augusta, Ga., March 4.—(AP)—William Purdie, salesman for a local automobile concern, was probably fatally injured late this afternoon when his automobile overturned at a point several miles from Augusta in South Carolina. He received a fractured skull and internal injuries.

The accident occurred, witnesses say, when he lost control of his machine in an effort to dodge a horse and wagon. The car overturned, pinning Purdie beneath the wheel.

DR. OSTROM HOLDS 'Bobby' Jones Now A Phi Delta Phi; Inducted Friday

Dr. Henry Ostrom, nationally known evangelist and one of the outstanding figures of the extension department of the Methodist Episcopal church, will preach at the Bible conference.

Robert T. Jones, III, the world's foremost golfer, is winning new laurels as a student in the Lamar Law school at Emory university. "Bobby" Jones, together with ten other emory lawyers, was formally inducted Friday night into the Phi Delta Phi international legal fraternity at ceremonies conducted by the Lamar Inn chapter of Emory, at the Baltimore hotel.

Others who were inducted into the fraternity are Charles Allen, Calhoun, Ga.; A. D. Brown, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Ed. Bruce, Atlanta; Walker Covles, Richmond, Va.; Alton Crowe, Jacksonville, Ala.; William Hamilton, Memphis, Tenn.; Robert Henry, Emory; Henry Mathew, Fort Valley, Ga.; Earl Smith, Tampa, Fla.; and John W. Weeks, Decatur.

"Bobby" Jones entered Emory in September as a freshman in the law school where he is taking post graduate work, having already won degrees from Georgia Tech and Harvard. He expects to complete his law work in two more years.

The active membership of the Lamar Inn of Phi Delta Phi is composed of Ralph Quillen, president, Avery, Jr., John Cozart, C. D. Hunt, R. D. Edmonson, Sidney Gilbreath, John Jones, E. C. Lockhart, Richard Powell, M. A. Sellers and Robert F. Whitaker.

The initiation ceremonies got under way about 7 o'clock Friday night. The 14 new members were sworn in by hotel authorities to be yet in progress.

DR. HENRY OSTROM.
ference and revival services to be held at the church, South, during the fortnight from March 13 to March 27, it was announced Friday by Dr. B. F. Fraser, pastor.

Early close of the government's case against P. J. Baker, John D. Russell, J. A. Sasser and L. R. Adams in United States district court on mail fraud charges, was predicted Saturday afternoon when Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley adjourned court until 9:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Countdown by R. D. Rank, auditor of the department of justice, on the witness stand, the government calling upon Mr. Rank to give the record of the case against the prisoners of each of the co-defendants, as taken from records of the defunct Bankers Trust company.

Motion for a mistrial in the case, made Friday by defense counsel, was overruled by Judge Sibley, who held that reading in federal court of testimony of Paul H. Baker in the state court trial of W. D. Manley, president of the defunct bank company, was not prejudicial to Baker in the minds of the federal court jury.

Disbursements of the United States marshal's office during February show a trial of $2,400 more than the month cost the government $18,955 in per diem allowances, subsistence money and railroad fare for witnesses.

CANCER INHERITED DISEASE, CHICAGO AUTHORITY SAYS
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Chicago, March 4.—Elaborate experiments with 800 mice over a period of 18 years, have convinced experts at the University of Chicago that susceptibility to cancer is inherited. The study, conducted by Dr. R. A. Fisher, has been published in the journal of pathology, considered an authority, has between 12,000 and 15,000 mice in her laboratory all the time. Her business is to keep them alive as long as possible, because cancer does not develop until middle life.

Says Dr. Fisher: "Whenever, in my laboratory, two cancerous mice have been mated, it has been possible to obtain 100 per cent cancer families. Where cancerous and non-cancerous mice have been mated, the disease has proved itself uniformly inheritable. The type of cancer and location in the system where it is likely to appear, also have been proved inheritable."

MORSE ASSOCIATE GIVEN SENTENCE OF YEAR HERE
New York, March 4.—(AP)—Captain Mark L. Gilbert, former associate of Charles W. Morse and for years a resident of Mystic, Conn., was found guilty today of conspiring to bring liquor into the United States. He was sentenced to a year and a day in Atlanta penitentiary.

DINSMORE HEARING IN MARIETTA TODAY

Marietta, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—Hearing on the application for bond by Mrs. M. Dinmore and James Hall, under indictment in Forsyth county and charged with causing the death of Mrs. Dinmore's husband by poisoning, will be heard here Saturday before Judge John S. Wood, superior court judge. The hearing is set for 10 o'clock.

Dinmore, a wealthy farmer, died last December and since that time members of his family had his body exhumed with the result that the chemist reported the presence of poison in his stomach.

As a result of a grand jury probe held last week, warrants were issued charging Mrs. Dinmore and Hall with having caused the death of Dinmore by placing calcium arsenate in food served him.

Counsel has been employed by both sides and the case will be hard-fought Saturday, it is stated.

Hall was arrested and placed in jail at Cumming, but Mrs. Dinmore is ill at the home of her parents, it is stated, and not able to be moved.

5 IMPERILED SHIPS ARE SAFELY IN TOW
Norfolk, Va., March 4.—(AP)—Four barges and a schooner, the last of a score or more vessels that came to grief in Wednesday's blizzard off the Virginia-North Carolina coast, were safely in tow of rescue vessels today. A check shows that so far the storm toll was one small fishing schooner, blown ashore near Cape Hatteras, the crew of which was taken off by lifesavers.

There was no known loss of life despite the fact that the storm was one of the worst this

U. S. B., Lanier Battle For G. I. A. A. Title Tonight

Boys' Hi, Savannah Drop From Running In Macon Tourney

Bluebirds Beat Savannah Basketeers, 36 to 27, in Thrilling Game in Semi-Finals—Poets Easily Defeat Purple Cagers, 42 to 22—Final Game To Be Played Tonight.

Auditorium, Macon, Ga., March 4.—(AP)—Lanier High School for Boys, of this city, and the University School for Boys, of Atlanta, will meet tomorrow night in the finals of the G. I. A. A. basketball tournament.

Boys' Hi of Atlanta was eliminated tonight by Lanier, 42 to 22, and Savannah was put out of the championship race by U. S. B., 36 to 27.

At 8:15 o'clock tomorrow evening Savannah and Boys' Hi will meet in the curtain-raiser, to decide third and fourth honors.

As soon as that game is over, the championship game between Lanier and U. S. B. will start.

Sip-and-Tuck Game.
The U. S. B.-Savannah game was a nip-and-tuck affair in the first half, that came ending with the count 16 to 14 in favor of the victors. But in the last half the Bluebirds piled up a lead that could not be overcome. Carpenter, flashy forward of the winners, was the outstanding player.

The Lineups.
SAVANNAH (27) Pos. U. S. B. (36)
Williams (6).....Spreke (16)
Whittington (6).....L. E. Carpenter (11)
Tadd (11).....McHenry (19)
McIntosh (2).....Freeman (12)
Mares (2).....Green (12)
No substitutions.
Referee, Gassman; umpire, Galt.
Score at half, 16-14; Savannah 11.
Poets Beat B. H. S.
Fast work by the Lanier Poets, with

Underwood again leading in goal-shooting, gave them the lead at the start and they were able to increase this lead as the game progressed. The half ended with the Poets on the long end of a 17-11 score.

Underwood on more than one occasion took the ball in the center of the floor and swished it through the basket with perfect shots.

At the close of the game the entire Lanier team was composed of substitute players.

Maloney, Sharkey Meet For Crack at Tunney
New York, March 4.—The heavyweight boxing situation has been brought a long way toward its 1927 climax by arrangements for a bout between Jack Sharkey and Jimmy Maloney at Yankee stadium on May 26.

The winner will be named as the next opponent of Gene Tunney, unless Jack Dempsey is in shape for another try for the championship by that time.

Tex Rickard will offer Dempsey a match with the victor in the Sharkey-Maloney fight, and it will be up to the former title-holder to declare himself in, or pass forever from the heavyweight picture.

Gene Tunney will be in a ringside seat when Sharkey and Maloney meet and on that occasion the champion will receive from Rickard a check for $100,000, the second installment of the record purse which Tex Rickard is sending a representative to lay the facts before the former champion and receive his acceptance or rejection of a trial bout with the winner of the Sharkey-Maloney scrap. The promoter insists that in no other way can Dempsey hope to meet this year the tall marauder who won his championship one rainy September night in Philadelphia.

As to the choice between Sharkey and Maloney, opinion is divided. Each has defeated a good light heavyweight within the past fortnight, but neither was particularly impressive in victory.

Sharkey beat Mike McTigue, but only because former time was swinging an active sponge in his corner. At the end of ten rounds, the customary duration of hours, Madison Square Garden, the old Irishman was well ahead on points. From that point on, McTigue weakened rapidly, and the accidental severing of a small blood vessel in his mouth undoubtedly saved Mike from a severe beating.

NEW RECORD SET BY MISS CALIFORNIA

Tampa, Fla., March 4.—(United News)—A new world record for class 151 hydroplanes was established at the annual Tampa Bay regatta here today when Miss California, owned and driven by Dick Joyner, of Long Beach, Cal., won the first 5-mile heat in the Elgin trophy race in 5 minutes 53.23 seconds.

This record was 12.5 seconds better than the former record held by Miss Spitfire V, made last winter at Long Beach, Cal. Miss Spitfire V finished second today.

Miss Spitfire VI was third. Miss Tampa today went into the lead for the gold cup interstate trophy, finishing second in the second heat. She also came in second in the first heat yesterday.

Palm Beach Days finished first today in the gold cup race, having been forced out yesterday due to a broken shaft, was not standing at the top of the list of the three competitors for the cup.

Sara De Sota, winner yesterday, today was flagged from the course on account of engine trouble.

The third and final heat of the race will be run tomorrow.

The "Y" gym team will do a few stunts on the mats and parallel bars, all of which should round out a very interesting program.

GIANT LEADER DENIES REPORT OF TEX OFFER

New York, March 4.—Charles A. Stoneham, leading stockholder of the New York Giants, today denied printed stories that Tex Rickard had offered him $2,500,000 for his holdings, which are about 65 per cent of the stock.

"That is an annual yarn," he said, "and besides, the circus is due in town in two weeks."

Mr. Stoneham declared that he had been approached about two years ago by John Ringling, associated with Rickard in Madison Square Garden, who offered him then $2,500,000 for the Giants. The offer was turned down.

"Nor is the New York club for sale now," Stoneham added. "The owner of the Yankees, denied he had sold, or was contemplating selling the club."

"Of course I have had offers," he admitted, "but none of them ever got so far as to amount to negotiations."

He was reported to have refused an offer of $4,000,000 from the Rickard-Ringling interests for the New York American League club, but he is considering still a bid of $2,000,000 for a half interest.

In the face of the denials, however, Rickard said he had sold, or was contemplating selling the club."

"My deal for the outright purchase of 51 per cent of the New York Giants for $2,500,000 is 'still pending' but I am no nearer a consummation of the deal than I was when I first started negotiations about six months ago."

SECOND ROUND OF S. C. BOXING MEET REACHED

Charlottesville, Va., March 4.—(Special).—The second round of the southern conference boxing tournament was reached here tonight, the first round having been held last afternoon.

The victory, being staged here at the University of Virginia, got under way in fine fashion, most of the favorites coming through the battles with banners flying high.

Birmingham, Georgia bantamweight, was the only Bulldog to fight through the preliminary rounds tournament, but he was defeated by a local favorite, drew a bye and will meet Gilmer, Virginia, in the final round tomorrow night.

At the same time Birmingham, Georgia, also of the Cavaliers, in the second preliminary.

Pattie, Virginia Tech, gained a judges' decision over Woodall, Georgia, middleweight, after three rounds. Hall, Florida heavyweight, had the edge over Haley, of the Bulldogs, from the start, and easily took the final match of the card.

Summary.
Bantamweight—Won by Birmingham, Georgia, over Miller, Florida; referee's decision, after four rounds.
Lightweight—Won by Erwin, Florida, over Georgia; judges' decision, in three rounds.
Welterweight—Won by Wood, Virginia, over Holder, Georgia; judges' decision, in three rounds.
Middleweight—Won by Erwin, Virginia, over Warren, Florida; judges' decision, in three rounds.
Heavyweight—Won by Stinson, North Carolina, over Daniel, Virginia; judges' decision, in three rounds.

Money Divided.
The money was divided: $600, $500, $400, $300, $200, $150, $125, $100, $75, and $50.

Ben Neal, Orlando, won the silver trophy for amateurs, turning in a 323 John Fletcher, Orlando, was runner-up with a 336.

The victory was Burke's second in Florida championship play. He capped the Clearwater open last week and was runner-up in the west coast open at Bellair last Sunday.

Hagen went out this morning and shot a 71 to come within a stroke of the leader, but he faltered this afternoon taking a 73, allowing Espinosa, who at the end of the third round was fourth to press Burke. Espinosa made the final 18 in a 71, by consistent, steady golf, but nothing of the sensational.

RUTH SIGNS BIG CONTRACT WITH YANKEES

New York, March 4.—(United News).—Babe Ruth, not so long since released from the lure of Hollywood, returned to face the movie cameras Friday, as he signed "when money" which made him Colonel Jack Ruppert's henchman for the next three years.

While the Kleig lights flashed in the old Knickerbocker, the Babe did a John Hancock on what appeared to be a sure enough big contract, calling for $70,000 annually for three years.

Ruppert was insistent that the contract itself, contrary to baseball usage which permits secrecy in such respects, be used and shown to the paying public. The colonel has been somewhat abashed by suggestions that he and Ruth have a secret agreement, and both insisted that there is only one contract.

"One and indivisible," suggested someone, so the colonel reached into his desk drawer, down behind the box of cigars and the near-by sticklers, and brought forth the most lucrative document a ball player ever signed.

Without benefit of grease paint, the Babe took a fountain pen in his pompous fist and with loose, sprawling "George Herman Ruth," Ruth leaves for St. Petersburg to join the Yanks Sunday.

Atlanta Soccer Team Plays Today

The closing game of soccer will be played at Piedmont park this afternoon when the Atlanta club meets the club from Lithonia, Ga., at 2:45 o'clock.

The local club defeated the Federal prison team last Sunday afternoon in an exciting game at the prison and are expected to take the invading team into camp this afternoon.

The following men will compose the Atlanta team: Cape, Hodge, Chase, Wilson, Jelouk, Day, Stark, J. Pressick, G. Pressick, Askew, and L. Pressick. Reserves, Hodge, Clein, Ness, and P. Pressick.

Referee, Billy Jones, Atlanta.

HAWKEYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Heap Big Medicine Show
Did you ever see a $10 show for one smacker? No? Well next Friday night at 11 o'clock you will have that chance if you have the one smoleen and the means of transportation to the city auditorium.

On that night a round hundred actors and actresses will pass before the footlights in a mammoth revue for the benefit of the Tallulah Falls Industrial school and every theater in the city where said actors and actresses are scheduled to appear next week is joining in the production of the greatest show ever assembled in Atlanta.

Practically the entire cast of "Blossom Time" appearing at Erlanger theater will be in the revue as well as many of the cast from the Forsyth Players, all of the stage presentation from the Howard and the entire vaudeville bills from Loew's Grand and Keith's Georgia.

In addition to the singers, dancers, jugglers, aerial artists, monologists, mystics and whatnot there will be upwards of 100 union musicians in a gigantic orchestra to furnish music for the revue.

In short, Atlanta theater-goers will be given an opportunity to see a mammoth revue lasting more than two hours for the price of $1.00—an opportunity which may not come again in many a month or year.

The performance, as stated above, is to be staged for the benefit of the Tallulah Falls Industrial school and the participants in the revue will get nothing but a lot of satisfaction for their part in the show but the 6,000 spectators who are expected to jam the auditorium will get a lot of satisfaction plus a $10 show for one-tenth of that price.

The theater managers, who are taking the lead in this move are to be complimented for their actions. It is a worthy cause but they make no claim to staging a charity show. They simply declare that the public will be given a "heap big show" for a small price.

Not Hurt? Well, Maybe, But—
We have a communication from Max Myer, manager of one Mr. Gates, Mohawk Indian, who lost to W. L. Stribling at city auditorium Thursday night to the effect that he would not allow his Indian to continue the battle with Stribling because of a cut on the Mohawk's eye which would not be mended.

That is undoubtedly true as far as it goes but the statement also made by Mr. Myer that the Indian was "otherwise uninjured during the fight" is open to question. If injury is meant to mean permanent dismemberment we agree but the left-handed jolts to the body which sent the Indian down in the fourth round certainly could not be looked upon as a gentle massage. Not from our point of vantage.

Big League Pilots Putting Candidates Through Stiff Paces

Machinery Begins To Roar As Important Cogs Are Fitted In—First Exhibition Game Scheduled For Today.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The humming of machinery in major league baseball camps of Florida, Louisiana and Texas grew louder and more regular today as important cogs were fitted in position and the wheels set to turning with added power.

The Boston Red Sox had their first workout of the season today when Bill Carrigan led the American leaguers to the New Orleans lot and started them off. The weather was ideal and it was hoped that the candidates would be in full swing within a few days.

Manager Harris rounded off a few rough edges at Tampa as he put the Red Sox in line for their first game of the season, a doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns today. A number of regulars will start in both lineups.

Nothing but drill was the order at St. Petersburg and Fort Myers, respectively, where the Yankees and Athletics are training.

Rain fell lightly at San Antonio during the day but baseballs propelled by Detroit arms drove through the mist. Morarity knows no rest, and the Tigers get further advanced. Three new arrivals came in during the day, Jackie Warner, third baseman; Deveraux, shortstop; and W. T. Shivers, pitcher.

Ray Schalk continued work with his White Sox. Reynolds, recruit outfielder, was the only newcomer.

First Ball Game.
It will be the first exhibition game of the season.

The shortest training session of the day was at Tarpon Springs, where Dan Howley, left-handed pitcher, was working on his control. He was burning and Dan decided the St. Louis lads could warm up as well before the lads as anywhere.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb spent another day at Sarasota and again witnessed the workout of the New York Giants, before proceeding to meet Myers to join the Athletics Sunday. He predicted the Giants as national league pennant winners, and said they would have Connie Mack's force to contend in the big classic.

Bill Terry, put in a belated appearance at McGraw's training grounds. No word has yet come from Eddie Roush.

Cleveland's Indians showed more snap and pep Friday than at any time since they got together. McCallister was so gratified with the manner in which his men are rounding into condition that he announced a regular game for today. Joe and Luke Sewell, who have been detained in Alabama, wired they would be in camp Sunday.

Wayland Dean, pitcher, and John Moku, outfielder, have arrived in the Philadelphia Nationals' camp at Brantock, Pa., as well as the new arrivals expected for a couple of days.

A practice game was played Friday afternoon at Avon Park between a couple of minor leaguers, the Cardinals squad. The work of Frankie Frisch and Frank Snyder pleased Bob O'Farrell, who is still worrying some over the absence of Clint Rhum and Tom Thevenoz, two of his stars.

Reds Working Hard.
Jack Hendrix kept his Cincinnati Reds down at hard labor, a sentence which they have been under ever since reaching Orlando. No others reported during the day.

GEORGIA TECH RATS REPORT FOR BASEBALL

Some 28 freshmen, candidates for berths on the 1927 baseball team, reported to Coach Roy Mundorf, rat baseball coach at Tech Flats, Friday afternoon and were sent through a brisk workout—the first real practice session of the season, under the coaching of Mundorf.

With the material now on hand and plenty more running about the campus, Mundorf expects to put out a winning freshman nine this season. He has plenty of good stuff to build his team with this season. Among the first 28 men to turn out for a trout on the team he had plenty of promising material and expects to fast mould the men into a strong team.

The work will continue each day until the opening of the freshman season. The rats will furnish the varsity men with opposition in the next few days. The rats gain most of their experience through playing the higher ups before the season opens and at the same time give the varsity boys plenty to think about in the way of training.

The following men reported: Infielders, Thomason, Emerson, Terrill, Strickland, Frick, Mizzell, Clunklees, Hutchings, Metz, Moore, Schenberg, Hicks, Perry, and Taylor; outfielders, Adams, Eldridge, McLeod, Heard and Coker; catchers, Spear and Binkley; pitchers, Calypson, Bailey, T. L. Moore, Reeves, Meers, Jetton and Larky. Several men will report to Coach Mundorf for tryouts after spring football practice ends.

Officials Announced For Annual Relays To Be Held at Tech

List Includes Officials For Every Post in Relays—Plans Being Completed For Annual Southern Relay Meet at Tech in April—Street Named Referee.

A list of 49 officials for the annual southern relays to be held at Georgia Tech April 9 has been placed in the mails by W. A. Alexander, relays manager and football coach at Georgia Tech. The list is provisional on the acceptance of any of all of the officials invited to handle the meet.

Charles Street, of the Birmingham Athletic club, is invited to act as referee, and Al Doonan will be head finish judge, if he accepts the post offered by Alexander.

The list includes officials for every post necessary to the proper conduct of the relays and a total of 48 are invited to take care of the meet.

H. J. Steegman, of Georgia, and E. W. Erwin, of Birmingham, will be the starters under this provisional list, and Dr. L. R. Hessler, of Knoxville, Tenn., the head timer.

Following is the list of those invited to officiate:

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.
CORNELIA GETS A LIFT.

For just one instant Cornelia's nature heaved and swelled with the dream of replying to Lyman that she would, whether she came back or not. But only for one instant. Life and the lodger's empty room—had drained all possibility of that sort of thing out of her.

"Mr. Lyman," she reiterated, in the tremulously controlled voice of the slave who remembers that she is also a lady, "I think if you realized—I know it's a great favor, but if I lose this car, I can't go downtown to my mother—she's waiting for me in all this storm—to take her to dinner and the theater, not till nearly 8 o'clock—"

"Well, it was up to you to think of that before you wasted my time."

"But it's her birthday, Mr. Lyman—her seventeenth birthday—"

"Sorry, Miss Marsh, but your mother's birthday's no funeral of mine. Just get busy on the synopsis, please."

And the master looked up in jocular triumph at this slave of his, who heard at that moment an ominous sound—a clanking, grinding, distant whirr. Suddenly, implacably, all golden through the black blur of the rain, beyond the window and along the dark, tree, faroff road, the 6:20 trolley shot passed and disappeared.

Cornelia's stricken blood, motionless from Lyman's little jest, flamed scarlet, as if a wind had blown it to face and head; she gasped out in uncontrollable shame, rage and shock and, snatching up her report out of Lyman's hand, she ran from the room; rushing through the outer office from which even Miss Jacobs had now disappeared, across the hall into the empty scenario department, with sobbing breath she flung herself down beside the typewriter.

This time the keys clicked slowly. The heavy beating of her heart might run forward as it would, one eye might be kept on a half digested script, whose always dim incidents the scene with Lyman had wiped from her brain like a fiery sponge. Amid the unprecedented quiet of the scenario department, gruesome and unreal like an environment somehow strange to her in which she sat surrounded by night, alone in space and time save for the octopus swaying its waiting tentacles as, across the hall, Lyman swayed in his desk chair, five minutes passed. Nothing, comparing—faster, now—now she had a line on the thing! But there seemed weights on her fingers, a weight on her lungs, and her heart would go on beating in her temples and her throat at once—10 minutes! Twelve! Tears of excitement, of frantic haste, ran down her cheeks as she signed her name at 25 minutes of 7, and, snatching up her hat, umbrella, handbag, coat, ran for Lyman's office. And as she cast upon the last mockery of mastership—Lyman had gone.

It caused her scarcely a blink. Out she ran along the hall at Herzig's jamming on her hat, writhing into her coat; and the wet gusts of the outside steps she hoisted a rebellious umbrella and as she plunged into that quagmire between her and the road, clutching with one hand at the crepe draperies which blew, unshielded and unsafeguarded, into the rain. There the wind caught her and the mud, the slippery mud, all oil soaked, with the wind blowing her into its high ridges and down like mad tracks as her foot touched them, while the headlights of the inevitable motor trucks and of cars belonging to members of the Harry Hooley company, floundering and splashing through the pitch darkness across the rain whipped seas of mud on either hand into the drive, kept suddenly revealing puddles like ponds into which she had been on the verge of plunging, as the motors, Oh, so effectively disrupted her right of way! Clutching her draperies into moist bunches, clinging to her umbrella, scurrying, jumping, tripping, shying, plunging with life runs through the dark in a mood like a fretted animal, a cursing prayer, suddenly, from round the curve of the road, while she was still, perhaps, a hundred feet away, Cornelia heard again that sound of ill omen—the thin, clanking, grinding whirr of the approaching car.

Forward! Glancing frantically ahead to see if no eager group was waiting to stop it, she couldn't be sure, she couldn't see—Oh, if only she had mistaken the sound! And round the curve came the car.

To all those fearing winds Cornelia threw her caution. She dashed, she plunged, she flew! Still heavily against the wind and through the slipping mud but indifferent now to flying brooderies, to splashing on her legs, to pitfalls in her path. She could hear herself beginning to call "Stop! Oh, stop, stop!" though she knew the car could not hear her. Yet it was slowing down! It was going to stop! She would catch it—and then something happened! She was staggering, she was being turned aside, pushed out of the drive—it was her umbrella! It had struck her umbrella and sent it spinning, jarring Cornelia to one side. Her ankle turning, she lost her footing and stumbled into the morass beyond the drive, so reelingly that she almost fell, before she could swing again toward the trolley track. The trolley car had only slowed down, not stopped, a couple of men were just swinging themselves aboard. "Stop! Wait!" she cried. But it started up again. That automobile which had smashed her umbrella was standing stock still just ahead of her, right in her way; as she tried to run past it she beat at it with her fists, threatening it with little scratches. But out along the track the car slid on bright and bumping, impregnable to prayer or pity—now it was gone! The car was gone!

It meant nothing to Cornelia that this somebody was a chauffeur. She could in no way connect anything so usual as a chauffeur with what had happened to her. He was talking about shock—she was hurt—her umbrella. She suddenly felt herself cold and wet and that her teeth chattered. "It's my car! I've lost my car!"

Almost at her elbow a voice said: "Oh, bother the umbrella, Cummings there's plenty umbrellas! It's a life ferry she wants!" In the window of the automobile, a limousine of which the interior was not lighted, there had appeared a small, pale, and fierce. "Get her in here with me!"

Urged forward in a daze, her teeth still chattering, but no longer helplessly taking the step into the limousine, Cornelia was instantly aware of the clutch of small, nervous hands, fierce as the little face itself, dragging her in, of soft cushions, of warm, flower scented air, of power, of peace. She knew that she was saved. Even before she heard the words, "How dare we beat it, such a night? Because, look, Cummings, we've got to make that ferry."

Cornelia was entirely recovered. The limousine had left the provision and notion stores behind, slipped down the worst hill in Jersey as a boat slips down a wave, passed on, belated wings the poor, grinding, bumping trolley that was now in a position to run after Cornelia, while she sat warm in her corner speeding through the night, her nerves healed by the rapid motion and by that sense of being the favorite of Providence felt by all those who ride in expensive motor cars. The torn rags of her mind and soul, weaving themselves together again, realized that even the mud spots on the Canton crepe didn't matter so very much since, to her mother, they would be gilded by their adventure with a personage. Thus she returned to a rational life.

But not to ordinary life! In that difference lay this strange warmth, like a little spring of wine, now welling in her breast. She stole glances through the dusk. There, rigid in its corner, sat the Golden Idol, a touch of fair hair visible above the huge sable collar of the coat Dulcie had been wearing on the set even before the weather changed; otherwise, a mere bundle, all silent. Directly after the rescue Cornelia had attempted to gasp out thanks and explanations, but had been cut short by a growl. Motionless and unapproachable, swathed in its sables, the small, surly, gifted goddess gave forth no sign as to whether it shifted the inches of pure devotion beginning to rise anew, however misty, however scared and scant, from that middle aged, maiden heart, which was also the heart of an artist.

Week-End Gayeties Bring Festive Close To Social Life

Week-end dinner-dances at the Piedmont Driving and East Lake Country clubs, a tea-dance at the Every Saturday club with Mrs. Leonard Phinizy on East Fifteenth street, a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Mel Wilkinson at the Piedmont Driving club in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. William D. Ellis III; a bazar staged at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Hopkins on Piedmont avenue by the Band of Mercy, a group composed of charming young girls in their teen age, the proceeds to be devoted toward building a fountain and hospital for animals out on Marietta street, and a tea complementing Miss Mary Will Montgomery, a bride-elect, given in Decatur by Mrs. Cone Bond, go to make a calendar of varied social events for today.

Miss Alice Stearns Honored at Luncheon.

Miss Alice Stearns, who leaves Monday for New York, to sail Thursday on the "Rochambeau," for France, was honored at the buffet luncheon at which Mrs. Joseph D. Rhodes was hostess at her home on Pace's Ferry road. Nineteen friends of the honor guest were present.

Mrs. Forrest Adair, Jr., Honored at Tea.

Mrs. Forrest Adair, Jr., who before her recent marriage was Miss Jean Williams, was honored by Miss Dorothy Fluker, Thursday at a bridge tea at her home on Fairview road. Guests included Misses Jeannette Staples, Tirzah Walker, Mae Clark, Margaret Cochran, Netta Russell, Louise Huddleston, Virginia Riske, Mary Kennie, Martha Berkstrom, Sarah White, Evelyn Carmichael, Mary Anne Bates, Virginia Kelley, Juez Campbell, Virginia Baker, Ruth Alford, Mrs. John Doyle, Mrs. Gerard Williams, Mrs. Walter Brannan and Mrs. Forrest Adair, Jr.

Mrs. E. J. Chatterjee Gives Bridge-Luncheon.

Mrs. E. J. Chatterjee entertained at a bridge-luncheon Friday at her home on Piedmont road. The guest list included Mrs. H. F. Hartlett, Miss Jean Duval, Mrs. M. L. Picklin, Mrs. J. C. Blalock, Mrs. F. R. Connell, Mrs. J. C. Hipp and Mrs. Franklin Johnson.

Mrs. Anne Bates Walsh Honors Group of Visitors.

Mrs. George Woodruff, of Birmingham, Ala., the guest of Mrs. Ernest Woodruff and Mrs. Neal Harris, of Baltimore, Md., the attractive guest of Mrs. Harrison Jones, were honored by Mrs. Anne Bates Walsh at a beautiful bridge-tea at the Druid Hills Golf club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Kroner Honored on Birthday.

A number of friends gave a surprise party to Mrs. Frank Kroner, whose birthday it was, Friday evening at her home at East Lake.

Following dinner bridge was enjoyed until a late hour.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall George, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Hartley, Fletcher Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ramspeck.

Women's Safety

from loss of charm under trying hygienic conditions secure this way. True protection—discards like tissue.

By ELLEN J. HUCKLAND

SCORES of women's disorders are traced today largely to old-time "sanitary pads," insecure and unsanitary.

Eight in 10 better-class women today employ "KOTEX."

Wear lightest gowns and frocks without a second thought, any day, anywhere.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No bother.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

Deodorizes. Ends all fear of offending.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex. No embarrassment.

In fairness to yourself, try this new way. 12 in a package.

KOTEX

No laundry—discard like tissue

Col. and Mrs. Baltzell Are Hosts at Hop Supper at Fort

One of the series of lovely affairs at which Colonel and Mrs. George F. Baltzell are entertaining was the supper given Friday evening by them at their quarters in Fort McPherson preceding the hop, which is a fortnightly event at the Officers' club.

These delightful affairs attest the hospitality that reigns in the army circles and are always charming events. The home was artistically decorated with a profusion of early spring flowers. The guests were seated at small tables and supper served at 7:30 o'clock. Later they attended the hop of the Officers' club.

London Visitors To Be Honored At Biltmore Tea

An interesting group who will have tea Saturday afternoon at the Biltmore tea-dance will be Miss Frances Lucile Howitt, Mrs. Troup Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Troup Howard, Jr. and Hampton Howard, all of Liverpool, England.

Mrs. Howard and Miss Howard have recently returned from Palm Beach, Fla., where they have been the guests for the past two months of Mrs. Walter Graham Mitchell. Mrs. Howard has rented the home of Mrs. Chauncey Smith and will receive a cordial welcome from her many friends as a former prominent resident of Atlanta.

Social Items

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Mayer have moved from Rome to Atlanta and are stopping at the Henry Grady hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Davidge, of New York, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Speer at their home on Peachtree road.

The hosts of friends of Miss Mary Inman Pearce are delighted to know that she has sufficiently recovered from an illness of two months to be able to see her friends at the home of her parents, Colonel and Mrs. E. D. A. Pearce, on Andrews drive.

Miss Elizabeth Whitman and her sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lakin, of Bloomfield, N. J., are guests at the Roosevelt hotel in New York.

Mrs. Vera Hatcher McGee, who has been spending the month of February in Columbus, Ga., with her sister, Mrs. Everett Strupper, Sr., returned to the city Thursday. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Strupper, Sr., who will spend a month as the guests of Mrs. McGee.

Mrs. John Hill accompanied Mr. Hill to Columbus last week on a business trip. On Tuesday afternoon at the Country club, Mrs. Hugh McMath entertained at bridge in honor of her aunt, Mrs. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Coleman, of New York; Miss A. H. Schmitt, of Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Lene, of Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wesselman, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Stullberg, of New York; Mrs. H. N. Baker and Mrs. M. Kalb, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are guests at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bridge, of Albany, N. Y., are guests at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel for several days.

Mrs. J. L. Dunson and Mrs. Mary T. Tuggle, of LaGrange, Ga., arrived at the Biltmore hotel Friday afternoon.

Mrs. S. B. Irelan and Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Berry, of St. Joseph, Mo., are at the Biltmore hotel for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chapman and children, who arrived in Atlanta for residence last month from California, have taken possession of their home on Habersham road.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Watters, of Spartanburg, S. C., announce the birth of a son, Walter "Pat," Jr., on Monday, February 28.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Huntley, of Buffalo, N. Y., arrive Sunday to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Speer, at their home on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Joseph A. Nichols, in Saratoga, returned Friday to her home on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Frank Pollock will return to her home in Birmingham, Ala., Saturday.

DAILY CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Wilkinson will entertain at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. William Ellis, III, whose marriage was a recent event, taking place in Augusta.

Tea-dance at the Atlanta Biltmore.

Dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club.

Dinner-dance at the East Lake Country club.

The Atlanta chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta will meet with Mrs. M. U. Barnett, 747 Cascade avenue, S. W., this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Every Saturday club meets with Mrs. Leonard Phinizy, 189 Fifteenth street, at 11 o'clock.

Council of Girls' Agencies will meet at the Henry Grady hotel at 12:30 o'clock for luncheon.

The Band of Mercy, No. 15, will hold a bazar at the home of Mrs. Charles T. Hopkins, 1422 Piedmont avenue.

Miss Lily Allen will present several pupils in a studio recital to be given at the West End Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock.

Miss Evelyn Lovett will present a group of pupils in a recital of dancing and pantomime this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Eggleston hall.

Mrs. Dean McKoy will entertain with a bridge-shower this afternoon at the Orange Villa grill in compliment to Mrs. Scott Holden, formerly Miss Kathryn Littlejohn.

Mrs. Cone Bond will entertain at tea at her home on Clairmont avenue in Decatur in compliment to Miss Mary Will Montgomery, a spring bride-elect.

Mrs. Rucker McCarty will be hostess this afternoon at her home on Montgomery Ferry drive in honor of the twelfth birthday of her little daughter, Margaret McCarty.

Public Welfare Tea Is Event At the Atlanta Woman's Club

Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith presided at the tea at the Atlanta Woman's club Friday afternoon, assisted by the public welfare committee, of whom Mrs. George Ripley, Jr., was chairman, with the following committee: Mrs. Charles Goodman, director of the division of child welfare; Dr. Elizabeth Bruch, director of the division of public health; Mrs. Houston Johnson, director of division of problems of delinquency; Mrs. George Jewett, director of the division of industry; Mrs. Tom Ripley, director of the division of Indian welfare; Mrs. R. C. Jessup, of the division of narcotics.

The coordination of the various divisions of public welfare work being done by the Atlanta Woman's club was the subject of interest and suggested the spirit of the meeting at the tea Friday afternoon, which was admirably reflected in the subjects presented by the chairman and their valuable committees.

Mrs. John W. Madden, former opera star, sang a group of songs accompanied by Mrs. Ripley.

Chi Psi Fraternity Gives "Fakir Ball" at Biltmore Hotel

The members of the Chi Psi fraternity of Georgia Tech were hosts at a "fakir ball" given at the Biltmore Friday evening.

The handsome Georgian ballroom of the hotel represented the interior of a Moorish tent. Hanging from either side of the room and across the top were red, green and white draperies of Egyptian design. Holding back the entrance of the tent and as supports down each side were long spears, on each end a flag representing various Arabian tribes.

At the northern end of the room was a small tent from which was broadcast the very latest dance music by Charlie Trout's orchestra. Shaded lights and the mysterious odor of incense throughout the tent lent romance and beauty to the affair.

A number of the college set were present in attractive and becoming costumes. One saw Egyptian princesses dance away with japs, while dainty Dutch girls were swept away by handsome sheiks, and Russian skating girls dancing away in the arms of hard-boiled pirates.

Mrs. Leticia Johnson represented a Hindu, wearing a red satin suit trimmed in gold. Miss Julianne Hagan was a gypsy fortune teller in a dress of various colors. Miss Virginia Howard was a Japanese in an imported Mandarin suit. Miss Kitty Howard was a Russian skating girl in white satin, trimmed in white fur and silver. Miss Yolande Gwin was an Egyptian princess in a costume of gold and white pan velvet, trimmed in pearls. Miss Josephine Clark was an Egyptian costume of red, trimmed in gold. Miss Kitty Park was a gypsy fortune teller, dressed in red. Miss Ruth Moore was a tent lent romance and beauty to the affair.

Mrs. Martha Powell represented a Japanese in a suit of white satin with hand-painted flowers. Miss Virginia Clark was a gypsy fortune teller. Miss Alice Gayle was a Dutch girl in a costume of blue and white.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR A. G. BUTLER, FURNITURE DEALER

Funeral services for A. G. Butler, 71, Atlanta furniture man, who died Thursday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George L. Duncan, 989 Euclid avenue, after an extended illness, will be held this morning at 11 o'clock from the Rock Springs Presbyterian church on Piedmont road.

The Rev. J. R. Williams and Rev. Robert Ivey will officiate and interment will be in the churchyard.

He is survived by his widow, five daughters, Mrs. Ida Daniels, Mrs. George L. Duncan, Mrs. W. T. Lattimer, of Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. S. O. Mills and Mrs. S. H. Daniels, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; three sons, C. W. J. A. and Roy Butler, of Anniston, Ala.; four sisters, Mrs. D. E. Plunkett, Mrs. D. H. Jones, Mrs. J. A. Mason and Mrs. W. B. Phelps; one brother, E. T. Butler, of Monticello, Fla.; 17 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. H. M. Patterson & Son, funeral director, in charge.

A. & W. P. ENGINEER REPORTED BETTER AT HOSPITAL HERE

O. T. Nelson, 68, chief engineer of the Atlanta and West Point and the Georgia railroads, who had his left leg broken early in the morning when hit by an automobile, is resting comfortably at Piedmont sanitarium, it was stated Friday.

Mr. Nelson is one of the oldest and most popular men in the employ of the road, officials stated, and grave concern for his recovery was felt at the time of the accident. However, he is rapidly improving and physicians expect that he will be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

POLICE AID SOUGHT TO LOCATE YOUTH MISSING 4 DAYS

Police aid has been sought to locate Howard O. Mull, 15, of 824 Pulliam street, who has been missing from his home since Monday afternoon, February 28. The youth was last seen with an elderly man and members of his family fear that he has been lured away from home.

He is described as having a dark complexion, a small scar over each eyebrow and wearing a gray lumber-jacket, blue shirt, light cap and black high top shoes. He weighs about 102 pounds. Any information concerning his whereabouts may be sent to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. C. Mull, 824 Pulliam street.

EMBEZZLEMENT LAID TO LAUNDRY EMPLOYEE

An indictment charging embezzlement of $1,763.25 from the Excelsior laundry on August 1, 1926, was returned Friday by the Fulton county grand jury against N. E. Barker, former employee of the laundry. According to information obtained in the solicitor's office, Barker has not been arrested and has left the city.

Jackie Coogan Will Feature Matinee Program

A Jackie Coogan feature picture, "Trouble," and a resemblance contest in which those who look like the little star will compete for a photograph Jackie has autographed and sent for the winner will prove an interesting part of the children's Saturday morning matinee program this week. Those taking part in the Jackie Coogan contest are asked to meet Mrs. Newton C. Wing, matinee chairman, in the front lobby of the Howard theater at 9:20 o'clock Saturday morning. The matinee program itself starts at 9:30 o'clock with the box office open at 8:45 o'clock. Admission for juniors is 10 cents and 25 cents for adults.

Perry Complains Golfers Injure Property in Park

Temporary injunction restraining caddies from trespassing on the premises of his residence and enjoining officials of the Ansley Park Golf club from erecting a 60-foot board fence in front of the property of James A. Perry, chairman of the Georgia public service commission, was granted Friday by Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court.

The injunction was granted following the filing of proceedings by attorneys for Mr. Perry, alleging that falling golf balls on his premises, near the intersection of Montgomery Ferry drive and Polo drive, endangered the lives of members of his family and that caddies had no regard for grass and shrubbery when looking for balls.

Hearing was set by Judge Humphries for today before Judge Virgil B. Moore. The firm of Alston, Alston, Foster & Moore represents Mr. Perry.

FOUR MEN HELD ON $2,000 BONDS ON BOOZE CHARGE

A. F. Baker, of a downtown hotel, J. B. Brown, 24, of 250 Spring street; A. G. Green, 24, of 6 West Third street, and R. C. Cain, 24, of a downtown hotel, were taken to the Fulton county tower and placed under bonds of $2,000 each, following their capture in a raid on an alleged bootlegging establishment in the hotel, according to police reports.

The raid was conducted by Lieutenant T. D. Shaw, and Detectives Brown and Stone of the Atlanta police department, and Fred Stephens, investigator in Solicitor Boykin's office, who had gone to the hotel to investigate an alleged poker game.

Eight gallons of whiskey, in cans and 30 bottles, were found in addition to a large funnel through which whiskey had been poured and in the funnel was found a large quantity of pure tobacco and ground coffee, which was used to give the liquor a charred color and taste, it was reported.

Brown, Green and Cain were found in the room with the liquor, but they happened to be in the room, while Baker was arrested on another floor, after his card was found by the officers in the room.

Miss Ada Davis Weds Mr. Collins At Ceremony in Thomaston, Ga.

A very lovely wedding taking place Friday, March 4, in Thomaston, Ga., was that of Miss Ada Davis, of Atlanta, daughter of Mrs. Clifford Moore Davis, and W. Julian Collins, which took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Mark Smith, at high noon. J. M. Tullin, a life-long friend of the bride's mother, performed the ceremony in the presence of the family, and the bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Dr. C. L. Moore.

The ceremony was performed in the living room of the home before a big crowd of guests. The bride wore a gown of palms, lilies and cathedral candelabra. Miss Joan Cox, of Atlanta, was maid of honor, and wore a gown of the same shade. She carried an arm bouquet of orchids and roses. Little Mark Smith, Jr., nephew of the bride, was the ringbearer, and Howard Pendley acted as Mr. Collins' best man.

The bride was lovely in her gown of rose beige, georgette becomingly fashioned. Her French hat was of beige straw, and her costume was carried in matching details. She carried a lovely arm bouquet of valley lilies and bride roses.

Following the ceremony, a buffet wedding breakfast was served. Mrs. Davis was becomingly gowned in tan crepe trimmed in lace and a hat of the same shade. Mr. Collins wore a suit of powder blue and white. Mr. and Mrs. Collins left for a wedding trip to St. Petersburg, Fla., on Saturday.

TRUSTIES ESCAPE FROM U. S. PRISON

Two federal prisoners took French leave of honor from No. 2, and walked away from their posts as trustees. They formed a part of the milking detail at the farm and were at their posts early in the afternoon, they failed to appear for supper.

Ernest Brooks, 35, and Houston Stanfield, 30, were the men who could stand their state of semi-freedom no longer. Rewards of $500 for the apprehension of each were posted Thursday by Warden John W. Snook, of the prison.

Brooks is five feet five and one-half inch tall, weighs 130 pounds, has brown eyes, chestnut colored hair and is dark complexioned. His wife lives at Rock Springs, Ga. He was sent up for 15 months from Chattanooga, Tenn., for violation of the motor theft laws. He has three children.

Stanfield was sent up for a term of three years for violation of the Mann act, following his conviction in Birmingham. He is five feet and eleven inches tall, weighs 141 pounds, has blue eyes, dark chestnut colored hair and also is dark complexioned. His wife, Mrs. Lillie Stanfield, and five children, live at Albertville, Alabama.

SPRING WEATHER FORECAST TODAY BY VON HERRMANN

Clear spring-like weather, which visited the city Friday afternoon in the wake of a sub-freezing temperature for the past two days, will continue through today, but will be followed by light rain Sunday, according to C. F. von Herrmann, official meteorologist. Temperatures Friday ranged from 28, as the low point, to 50 during the early hours of the afternoon. A low mark of 26 degrees is predicted for today and the mercury probably will rise to the 60 degree mark, it was stated.

There is a disturbance over Texas at present and it is very likely that we will have some rain Sunday afternoon, due to this disturbance. Von Herrmann stated. There is no need to be alarmed for it will not result in severe cold here. It was stated.

OKLAHOMAN FINED FOR NON-PAYMENT OF FEDERAL TAX

Entering a plea of guilty to charges of violating the internal revenue laws, H. W. Campbell, of Oklahoma City, was fined $75 Friday morning in the United States district court, and made to pay the $75 tax due the government.

Campbell failed to make returns for show he operated in Whitfield county in 1922, the government charged. On Oklahoma City, he furnished the district attorney's clerk with attorney in fact power to enter a plea of guilty for him, at the same time sending a money order to cover the fine and tax, following the discovery of his present whereabouts by the district attorney's office and serving of a copy of the indictment.

Garland Alexander, negro, was fined $30 on a plea of guilty to possessing liquor, while Ed Hill, negro, drew a fine of $10 on a similar plea.

Ford Worker Loses Suit for Damages Under State Law

Jacob Glass, a negro, employed to work on a plantation owned by Henry Ford near Savannah, is not entitled to collect damages for personal injuries sustained recently, under provisions of the Georgia compensation law, according to a ruling announced Friday by Hal M. Stanley, chairman of the Georgia industrial commission, which has jurisdiction over such claims.

Under the ruling of the commission Glass is not entitled to compensation on the ground that he was engaged as a laborer in the removal of an old mill, which will be installed in the Ford Dearborn museum in Detroit automobile manufacturing, and that this work was not being done "for gain or profit" under the provisions of the Georgia compensation law. Glass was not seriously injured.

$10 Show for $1 Promised In Big All-Theater Revue

All theaters of Atlanta will combine activities and pool resources to give Atlanta a midnight revue program of entertainment which old-time theatrical men predict will be the greatest and biggest show of its kind ever offered south of New York, according to announcement made following a conference of the managers Friday.

It will be presented at 11 o'clock on the night of March 11 at the city auditorium for the benefit of the Tallulah Falls Industrial school. Arranged along the lines of the annual Lamb's club gambol, of New York, the show will include every type of entertainment and will offer only the best of each type selected. In the program will be the musical comedy field, headliners from the greatest vaudeville theaters in America, and outstanding players of the dramatic field will combine in presenting a two-and-a-half-hour show which would cost at least $10 to see in the theaters and all will be offered at the one price of $1 a ticket.

All theaters in Atlanta placed tickets on sale Friday for the huge show and this will be one attraction which will be of such a stupendous nature as to cause amusement lovers to get their seats early. The total number of seats to be sold will represent the capacity of the city auditorium and after this number is sold no other tickets will be available at any price. Every cent of the money received will be given to the Tallulah Falls school which is sponsored by the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Theater managers of Atlanta have taken off their coats and have gone to work to frame a program which will be entertaining from the moment the curtain rises until the last big finale. More than thirty acts are available for the show, and of these twenty of the best will be selected for the midnight show.

More than thirty acts are available for the show, and of these twenty of the best will be selected for the midnight show.

A feature of the meeting was the ban on all speech-making, effectively carried out to give ex-students an opportunity for conversation without interruption. It was decided to repeat the gatherings on the first Friday in each month, taking up a brief interval during noontime in order to make it convenient for as many of the 400 Atlanta alumni to attend as is possible. Arrangements for the monthly luncheons are in charge of W. Henry Smith, chairman of the committee.

The initial assembly brought together Georgia graduates from classes as far back as 1875 and as recent as 1926, and was presided over by C. P. Gore, assistant district attorney and B. M. Hall, prominent engineer, carried banners for the classes of 1875 and 1926 respectively, while the newly-graduated were present in legion. The bright spot of the gathering circled around the standard bearers of the university code, Miss Lucie Neville and Miss Lucy Woods. Announcement was made of the Georgia Glens club performance to be given in Atlanta soon.

Two are indicted in renewed drive on book-making.

A concerted drive to rid Atlanta of so-called "book-makers" or persons who accept bets on horse races was renewed Friday when the Fulton county grand jury returned two misdemeanor indictments charging two defendants with book-making.

The bills were presented to the grand jury by Solicitor General John A. Boykin who declares that he has the whole-hearted support of the city police department in the campaign. The solicitor has vigorously prosecuted book-makers heretofore and intends to have his investigators immediately place under arrest any and all persons who have no visible means of support and who are seen accepting money to bet on the races.

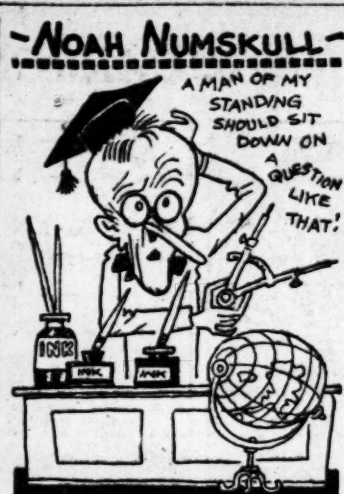

Those indicted Friday are Jack Latenas, of 2 Walton street, and J. M. Watts, who are accused of accepting bets in a door of an office building near the corner of Marietta and Peachtree streets.

SMOKE ABATEMENT PARADE HELD FRIDAY

One of the features of "Smoke Abatement week," which has been observed in Atlanta this week, was a parade at noon Friday on the streets of the city, with city officials, members of the Smoke Abatement league and a number of civic clubs taking part.

The parade assembled at Baker and Peachtree streets, and moved down Peachtree and Whitehall, Mitchell, to Broad, to Alabama, to Forsyth, to Marietta and Cone street, where it disbanded.

Atlanta municipal band headed by Miss Lillian Buford, drum major, led the parade. C. F. Dieter, president of the Smoke Abatement league, said Friday that it was the sole purpose of the league to educate citizens of Atlanta to the dangers of excessive smoke and of the evils of smoke.

GEORGE J. BALDWIN DIES IN BALTIMORE

Savannah, Ga., March 4.—(AP)—George Johnson Baldwin, chairman of the board of directors of the Savannah Electric and Power company, died at 1 o'clock this morning in Baltimore from pneumonia. He had been in ill health for six months.

Mr. Baldwin was associated with Stone and Webster and had served as president of several southern electric railway and lighting companies operated by them. During the world war he was chairman of the board of directors of the American International Shipbuilding corporation and agent of the United States shipping board emergency fleet corporation.

Mr. Baldwin was born in Savannah August 18, 1856, and with the exception of eight years spent in New York, lived most of his life in Savannah. He was prominent in civic affairs, having served as president of the Savannah board of trade. He founded the Kate Baldwin system of free kindergartens in Savannah, in memory of his mother, and recently presented the city with a modern kindergarten building.

The body will be brought from Baltimore to Savannah for interment, the funeral taking place probably Sunday.

Last Rites Today For Brader Barker, Pioneer Atlantan

Funeral services for Brader Barker, 76, pioneer Atlantan, who died Thursday night at the residence of his son, Charles F. Barker, 631 West Peachtree street, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, Dean Thomas H. Johnson, of St. Philip's cathedral, will officiate. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

A native of Tennessee, Mr. Barker moved to Atlanta with his parents when a small boy and has lived here the remainder of his life. He was connected with the Clark Hardware company for 25 years and during the past few years has been connected with the Southern Cotton Oil company.

In addition to his son, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. George C. Atkinson, of Providence, R. I.; three brothers and a sister.

RELIEF IS SOUGHT FOR NON-RESIDENT USERS OF WATER

Relief of non-resident users of Atlanta water from what is termed "excessive charges," was seen Friday in a move initiated by Councilman Jack C. Savage, member of the water committee city council, who announced that he will offer a resolution Monday to city council to increase the minimum water rate from 500 cubic feet a month to $80, the same as that which prevails inside the city limits.

This paper will have the active support of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, and other members of the water committee. It was disclosed Friday, and probably will be passed without concerted opposition.

Out-of-town customers now pay double rate for water furnished by the city, and the amount for which a minimum rate is charged is fixed at 500 feet. Mr. Savage's paper would increase this to $80. No change in the rate is contemplated in the measure, but the amount which may be used for which a minimum charge would be made will be increased.

WRIT OF HABEAS FILED BY INMATE OF FEDERAL PEN

Claiming that he is illegally restrained from liberty, Edward Fuller, inmate of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, Friday filed habeas corpus papers against Warden John W. Snook.

Fuller, who was sentenced from the eastern district of Virginia to a term of six months for violation of the Harrison narcotic act, claims that the local federal penitentiary can only receive prisoners who are sentenced to a year or more at hard labor, and that since his sentence is for six months, he is being illegally detained in the Atlanta prison. Federal Judge Samuel H. Shibley will hear Fuller's plea this morning.

Junior Order Plans Mass Meeting To Act On School Situation

Councils of Fulton and other north Georgia counties of the Junior Order United American Mechanics will hold a mass meeting at 7:30 o'clock on the night of March 16, at the hall of Gate City council on Capitol avenue, for the purpose of taking action in this matter of Atlanta public school conditions, to enter protest against operation of movie picture houses on Sundays and to advocate election of new members to the school board, according to announcement Friday by Carl F. Hutcheson, who will preside as general chairman.

The mass meeting will begin a thorough study of school conditions and will make recommendations for changes. This order's cardinal principles include support of the public school system in the United States. There are about 15,000 members in Fulton county, and every member will be urged to back up the action of the order in what it performs at the approaching mass meeting.

The diagram at the right shows how each loaf of Bamby travels through the oven at the right baking temperature from start to finish. Evenly baked bread tastes better and is more healthful

Every Loaf Baked Exactly Alike.

What a satisfaction to know that the loaf of bread you buy tomorrow will be just as good as the one you have today!

Bamby bread is popular in the homes of Atlanta. Housewives appreciate the wonderful ingredients we use—rich milk, pure creamery butter and the finest hard wheat flour.

But the old style brick ovens used by all bakers heretofore were uncertain. Oven heat couldn't be accurately controlled. Uneven baking resulted.

The new Bamby gas-fired, heat controlled oven absolutely eliminates uneven baking. No more overbaked and underbaked bread. No more hard crusts or soft loaves—but every loaf a golden brown, tender crusted loaf, baked through and through to exactly the right consistency.

Every loaf of Bamby is now exactly alike in quality every day in the year!

First In Atlanta!

The above photograph shows the new type oven used by the makers of Bamby bread—the first bakers in Atlanta to break away from old style baking methods and adopt modern gas-fired, heat controlled ovens.

Government Departments Crippled as Filibuster Kills Important Bills

Veterans' Loans, Alien Property, Public Build- ings and Other Measures Are Caught in Tangle.

(UNITED NEWS.)

Washington, March 4.—(P)—Nearly every government agency will feel the pinch of lack of funds during the coming year as a result of the death of several appropriation bills to-day in the senate filibuster.

Failure of the deficiency measure to get through the senate jungle of words struck the severest blow at government operations. This bill alone carried $93,700,000, including funds for pay pensions, to make loans to veterans on bonus certificates, to permit loans to farmers for purchase of seed and to meet numerous other contemplated activities.

Bills Near Passage Lost.

While hundreds of bills and resolutions died with conclusion of the session, several had progressed to the point of maturity only to be nipped in the senate fight.

Two public buildings measures required only senate action, one would have provided more than $19,000,000 to carry out the first year's construction program. Another would have authorized an additional $100,000,000 of public buildings construction throughout the country. It also provided $25,000,000 for purchase of land in the capital.

Senator Borah's proposed inquiry into Latin-American affairs never was brought to a vote. A demand by Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, for an investigation into the financing of public utilities received no attention. Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, failed to get approval for his proposed economic investigation. The proposed federal patronage inquiry only reached the senate calendar.

No Farm Bill Vote.

After months of fighting over farm relief the senate didn't vote on whether to override the veto by President Coolidge of the McNary-Haugen bill. See here from Santa Fe at 6:40 p. m.

BURGLAR ATTACKS AMERICAN WOMEN IN THEIR HOMES

Americus, Ga., March 4.—(Special.)—American mysterious marauder who has entered three homes here during the past week continues at liberty, although hunted by police and citizens in all parts of the city. Monday night the home of Robert Roberts on Dodson street was entered and robbed. Mrs. Roberts saw the intruder standing in her kitchenette and called loudly for help. Mrs. C. V. Tyson, who answered her call, fired one shot from her revolver.

Other homes recently entered and robbed were those of Mrs. Clayton Murphree in East Americus and Mrs. Murphree in East Americus and Mrs. Murphree in East Americus and Mrs. Murphree in East Americus.

SUIT ON LIQUOR SEARCH IS LOST BY WOMAN MAYOR

Basin, Wyo., March 4.—(P)—Wyoming's only woman mayor lost today in defending a $1,000 damage suit brought against her by an indignant woman citizen who alleged illegal search of liquor.

A jury in district court here was instructed by Judge James Burgess to find for the plaintiff, Mrs. Thelma Olson-Stevens, and award her the amount of money to be paid her by Mayor Elizabeth Wiley, 46-year-old widow of Greybull, population 1920.

Second time, who is serving her second term, testified, as did sheriff A. C. Burgess, that she was attempting to make Greybull dry. She said she knew the sheriff had been making frequent visits to Mrs. Olson-Stevens' home and so she had a justice of the peace issue a search warrant. The warrant, however, failed to specify the place to be raided or the purpose of the search and when the justice and two police officers arrived at the residence they found the sheriff there, but no liquor.

Georgia National Guard Will Train in Alabama

National guard troops of Georgia will spend the annual two weeks summer camp period this year at Camp McClellan, Ala., according to announcement Friday by Adjutant General Charles H. Cox. The 122nd Infantry regiment, composed of north Georgia troops, will spend the period of August 1-15 at the camp.

Lack of proper facilities for a camp in Georgia has forced the adjutant general to permit Georgia troops to train at the Alabama camp, it was said.

Losses in property which occurred last year during storm which hit camp of national guard troops on Tybee Island and general inadequate facilities on the coast, caused the decision some months ago to seek a better training camp site. Accordingly a commission was named to visit and inspect sites offered by more than a score of Georgia cities, but no action will be taken until after this year. It was learned at General Cox's offices Friday.

Reports from Washington to the effect that guardsmen would train in Columbia, S. C., were erroneous. General Cox explained, and both guard regiments in Georgia will go into camp at Camp McClellan.

SOUTHERN WORKERS ARE GIVEN INCREASE

Greenville, S. C., March 4.—(P)—Wages of Southern railway conductors and trainmen will be increased 7.12 per cent on March 15, Captain J. B. Barton, general manager of the Southern Railway system, announced today.

Representatives of engineers and firemen of the system are now in Washington negotiating for a wage scale involving proposed similar increases, Captain Barton said.

The new contract, it was said, will be for one year, beginning March 15. It will mean an increase in pay of approximately $15 per month for conductors and trainmen.

Representatives of engineers and firemen of the system are now in Washington negotiating for a wage scale involving proposed similar increases, Captain Barton said.

REDS TO STREW IN RUSSIA ASHES OF RUTHENBERG

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, March 4.—Ashes of Charles E. Ruthenberg, communist, probably will find final resting place along the wall of the White House. He opposed everything for which Americans stand, and devoted his life and talents to exploiting the Russian soviet.

In preparation for his funeral services Sunday the hall in which the services will be held, the offices of a communist paper and other soviet institutions were being decorated today in the flaming red of soviet Russia. Tonight and tomorrow communists and anti-Americans of every description will deliver speeches. Max Bedacht, editor of The Communist, verified the rumor that Ruthenberg's ashes would be taken to Russia for burial, but did not say how and when.

At the memorial services Sunday Zack Foster and other radicals will deliver speeches. Max Bedacht, editor of The Communist, verified the rumor that Ruthenberg's ashes would be taken to Russia for burial, but did not say how and when.

NOTABLES TO ATTEND DINNER FOR UPSHAW

A program which will include addresses by nationally known advocates of prohibition, will feature the ceremonial dinner to W. D. Upshaw, Georgia congressman, whose term expired Friday, at the Ansley park garden Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Among out-of-town visitors who have accepted invitations to be present are: Senator J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama; former Governor Richard B. Russell, of Illinois; Leigh Collier, chairman of the prohibition national committee, of New York; Congressman Jeff Buzby, of Mississippi, and Mrs. Harry Armstrong, noted social hostess and president of the international W. C. T. U.

The dinner will be strictly informal, it was announced, and will be held at the home of Mrs. Upshaw. It is expected that the dinner will be a social gathering for the past few years. Tickets are on sale at Cable Piano company, the Weinstock Floral company, and the Drug company, at $1.50 each. Morgan Blake will be toastmaster.

Military Funeral Planned for Man 110 Years Old

Dayton, Ohio, March 4.—(P)—Planned for a military funeral for "Uncle Bob" Brown, who died yesterday at the national military home here at the age of 110 years, were taking shape today.

The only Mexican war veteran in the institution, his passing made a deep impression at the home. His snow-white hair, his smile and his prowess as a splicer of tales made him known to every man there.

"Uncle Bob" never failed to have an audience when, around the mess table or a warm stove of a winter evening, he told of serving under General Zachary Taylor, in Mexico, in 1846 to 1848. "It wasn't much of a war," he often admitted, "but it was right good training for the civil war."

Although he lived in Arkansas, "Uncle Bob" considered that he had "done too much fighting for the United States in Mexico to let the country split up," and when the war broke out between the states he came to Cleveland and enlisted in the Union army.

His sons fought in the Spanish-American war and his grandsons and great-grandsons in the world war.

Last year, he retired to his home, the place of honor in the memorial day parade at the military home.

MEMORY LAPSE, STUDENT'S PLEA; HELD AS BURGLAR

St. Louis, March 4.—(P)—Henry Edward Threlkeld, 25, a medical student at the city hospital for medical examination when he pleaded temporary lapse of memory from overstudy, after his arrest early today in the basement of a south side house. He was held on a first degree burglary charge.

Threlkeld said he was working his way through school and did not have much money, but he had "no reason to steal anything or break into anybody's home."

Police found Threlkeld crouched under a basement stairway when they responded to a woman's telephone call that a burglar was in the house. A wrench and screw driver found in his pockets were picked up by him to return to a friend who had absconded with them at the first house, he said.

He usually wore the Fedora hat found folded in another pocket, but he had picked up the cap when he was wearing it to take it home, he said.

A 2-ounce bottle of chloroform, also in his pocket, he said he used to treat a sore toe, but the police examined his feet and found no injury.

At the fraternity house it was said Threlkeld had been away each night for several weeks until a late hour.

TOBACCO AND TRUCK NOT HURT BY COLD

Thomasville, Ga., March 4.—(P)—Reports from the tobacco and truck territory in this immediate section indicate that the tobacco beds are unharmed. Only one out of the houses in the Thomasville territory was damaged and this is not believed to be material.

The crop of beans that was out of the ground has been destroyed, but they can be replanted and grown without trouble. The damage to other truck is said not to be serious.
